The War Today

By GUY RHOADES

BITTER

Britain today sought to estimate the strength of French forces likely to renounce Marshal Pétain's government and continue the fight against Germany and Italy despite France's suits for peace with both enemies. From many parts of the French empire came assurances of loyalty to the cause over which both countries went to war, vowing then not to seek separate peace.

The British press was unanimously bitter against Pétain and his cabinet, holding that he had sold out their own country and its allies. Pétain on his part sought to show the British had been slow in waking up to the fact that this is not a traditional war.

REPLACED?
Parts of the French fleet, fourth largest in the world, was reported in the British Mediterranean concentration area around Alexandria, Egypt, but whether they would fight with the Royal Navy was not immediately clear.

Some commentators said the officers originally assigned to these vessels wanted to continue the fight but that they had been replaced by others considered "safe" by the rightist, peace-seeking Pétain administration.

PROMISES, BUT . . .
The wish of the great French army in Syria, it was declared, was to continue the fight and hundreds of French aircraft were reported to have been flown by their pilots to airports in north Africa.

German armistice terms were said to contain provisions for internment of the French navy and air force. Pétain's government promised that, but could hardly be held responsible if Britain took the two forces over.

STRIPPED OF COAST
France meanwhile waited for its flying emissaries to make terms with Italy, terms which were expected to be harsh, though hardly as harsh as those imposed by Germany—for Italy did practically no fighting in the short war.

Nevertheless, it was considered likely that when the combined terms were known it would be apparent that France will have none of her coast left—in fact be left in western Europe as a sort of inland island, like Switzerland or Hungary, only poorer.

BATTLE OF BRITAIN
When all this is accomplished, Britons felt, they could expect the real beginning of the "Battle of Britain." The weekend saw practically no air activity in British skies, but no one had any illusions that it would not recur as soon as conditions are favorable.

There seemed no doubt the British would have to brace themselves to withstand a long and violent siege, with little chance of creating a major diversion, except possibly by a land attack on Italy whose war effort so far has not been impressive.

WHEN WINTER COMES
Autumn comes to Europe in four months or less, winter in a few weeks more. A huge section has been devastated. No crops will be raised off that area. In many neutral countries a late spring, bad growing conditions and the fear of Nazism that kept farmers in uniform have combined to promise the poorest crops in years.

War is a waster. Germany has many more million mouths to feed than she had a year ago. Time, hunger and disease may be the British Empire's only allies for the rest of this war, but those three can fight more devastatingly than all the weapons in the world.

ITALY LOSES 7 SUBS

LONDON (CP)—An Admiralty communiqué today said: "Yet another Italian U-boat has been destroyed by British naval forces east of Suez, thus bringing the total of Italian U-boats definitely known to have been destroyed to seven."

"Italy declared war on the 10th day of this month."

A second announcement said: "The secretary of the Admiralty regrets to announce that His Majesty's yacht Compadore (Cmdr. C. H. Davey) has been sunk by an enemy mine. The commanding officer, three officers and 16 ratings are missing and it is feared they have lost their lives."

Final Bulletins

FRENCH COLONIES EXPECTED TO FIGHT

LONDON (CP)—General Charles de Gaulle, head of the French National Committee in London, declared in an interview tonight that he was convinced "all parts of the French empire will go on fighting."

"I have reason to think the French fleet will not surrender to the enemy," he added.

Gen. de Gaulle, who yesterday announced the formation of the committee here to carry on the fight, said there was "no doubt" former Premier Reynaud of France would be a member of the committee.

He said that if the French colonial empire responded as expected—the committee would attempt to form a French government somewhere on French soil. That government would continue to be represented in London.

Exact composition of the National Committee, he said, awaited arrival of "certain important personalities."

Bombs Hit Embassy

CHUNGKING, China (AP)—The French consulate was demolished and the British Embassy and British consulate were damaged today during a Japanese air raid. Seven Chinese employees of the British and French consulates were killed, but no Europeans were hurt.

Damage to the downtown area was heavy. Thousands of houses were demolished or badly damaged.

Churchill to Speak

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill probably will make a statement in the House of Commons tomorrow on the French armistice terms, political sources said today.

JOINS DUPONTS

Howard O. McMahon of Victoria, B.C., U.B.C. graduate, will join the staff of the rayon department, E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company, after receiving his Ph.D. degree from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is announced by the company today. He has been assigned to the Buffalo plant in Buffalo, New York.

Poles in Britain

LONDON (AP)—General Wladyslaw Sikorski, Polish prime minister, announced in a broadcast tonight "the great body of our army, safely back from France, is landing on the shores of Great Britain."

The general did not disclose the size of the Polish force, but pledged it to "continue the fight, shoulder to shoulder, with the powerful British Empire for a free and independent Poland."

No Food Worries

LONDON (CP)—Food Minister Lord Woolton said this evening that "until I impose fresh restrictions, the public need not fear about supplies."

"Some of our stocks," he added, "and those most vital, are greater than they have been at any time in the history of our country."

Fight Referee Dies

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—E. W. Dickerson, 64, for 40 years a sports writer, fight referee, war correspondent and sports promoter, died today.

Citizenship Proposal

LONDON (CP)—The Evening Star says it is being strongly urged in influential quarters full British nationality be offered at once to all men of the French army, navy, air force and merchant marine who desire to accept it.

Safe in England

LONDON (CP)—The Canadian Polish ambulance unit, with its lone Canadian member, Beatrice Ferguson, arrived in England at the weekend after more than a month in France. Miss Ferguson is formerly of Vancouver.

France Accepts Italian Terms; Fighting Stops

Europe

CEASE FIRE

BERLIN (AP)—The German high command announced tonight it had ordered cessation of hostilities in France and that arms be downed on both sides at 1.35 a.m. Tuesday (3.35 p.m., Victoria time Monday).

OCCLUDE SOUTH COAST

(Geneva, Switzerland, Fascist sources said they understood Italy had demanded the right to military occupation of France's entire Mediterranean coast for the duration of the war with Britain and later semidependent buffer state would be formed of Nice, Savoy and part of Dauphiné).

SIGNED

ROME (AP)—The envoys of France at 7.35 p.m. here tonight signed an armistice with Italy.

The signature of the French-Italian armistice brings into effect the French-German armistice signed Saturday in the Forest of Compiègne, which provided hostilities would cease six hours after the German high command had been notified of the signing here.

The conditions were not disclosed immediately. The conference lasted nearly four hours.

OFFICIAL VERSION

The government issued the following communiqué:

"The French-Italian armistice was signed at 7.15 p.m. Italian summer time on June 24 in the outskirts of Rome.

"Marshal Pietro Badoglio, chief of the general staff of the Italian armed forces, signed for Italy. Gen. Charles Huntzinger signed for France. (He also signed the Compiègne armistices with Germany)."

"At 7.35 p.m. the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Count Galeazzo Ciano, informed the Reich government of the signing.

"Consequently hostilities will cease at 1.35 a.m. Italian summer time tomorrow, June 25, 1940. (3.35 p.m., P.S.T., Monday).

DISCUSSED WITH BORDEAUX

The signing came after French and Italian armistice negotiators met today for the second time after the French had conferred with the Bordeaux government by telephone.

The Italian delegates arrived at the Villa Inghesca at 3.20 p.m. (5.20 a.m., P.S.T.) and the French plenipotentiaries 20 minutes later.

(In Bordeaux the French cabinet, after a brief session, was reported to have communicated the results of its discussion to the peace emissaries in Rome.)

CONDITIONS SECRET

The Italian conditions were handed to the French delegates at 7.20 p.m. last night (9.30 p.m., P.S.T.) in an atmosphere of secrecy which contrasted with the dramatic proceedings last Saturday by Compiègne Forest, where the same plenipotentiaries accepted separate terms imposed by Germany.

A laconic communiqué, issued six hours after the French delegation arrived here from Munich in three German planes, said merely that the conditions had been delivered at an unidentified villa 12 miles from Rome, in the presence of representatives of Italy's armed forces.

ACCEPTANCE FOREGONE

The French mission then retired to three adjoining villas, presumably to study the Italian terms and communicate them to the government at Bordeaux.

Acceptance of the Italian terms—regarded by political circles here as a foregone conclusion—would bring an end of fighting in France six hours after Germany has been notified of the French action.

Nature of the Italian armistice conditions was closely guarded and there was no indication whether a time limit had been set for acceptance.

Windsors to England

LONDON (CP)—A Reuters' news agency dispatch from Madrid today said it is understood that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor will return to England shortly.

GREAT EMPIRE HITLER AND MUSSOLINI CARVE—Spreading around the globe is the empire of France, which Germany and Italy are dissecting to their mutual benefit. French possessions are shown in black on the map. Portions of French West Africa and French Equatorial Africa were German colonies before the World War, were seized in peace treaty.

Canada's New War Taxes

Incomes, Autos Hardest Hit; 2% Wage Levy

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Ralston, in his budget speech to the House of Commons this afternoon, asked tremendous sacrifices of the Canadian people for war purposes.

A new tax on automobiles starting at 10 per cent on manufacturers' value up to $700 and increasing sharply to 80 per cent on value in excess of $1,200, Col. Ralston said, is designed virtually to prohibit purchase of high-priced cars and thus conserve foreign exchange.

Income rates are increased so sharply that a married man with no dependents, paying $36 on a salary of $3,000, under present rates, will now pay $195. Exemption is reduced 25 per cent and the rates increased sharply.

NEW DEFENCE TAX

A new national defence tax of 2 per cent flat rate is imposed on all salaries over $600 in the case of single persons, and $1,200 in the case of married persons, increasing to 3 per cent for salaries of single persons above $1,200.

TAKEN OFF PAY CHEQUES

The new 2 per cent National Defence Tax will be deducted by employers beginning July 1, 1940, who will pay it over to the government on September 16, and on the 15th day of every month thereafter.

This tax as it affects interests paid by corporations on bonds or other obligations registered as to interest, irrespective of amount, will become payable as from today.

Summary Shows How War Levies Work

OTTAWA (CP)—Following is an unofficial summary of the tax changes in today's federal budget:

A. Taxes designed to conserve exchange:
(1) War exchange tax: A tax of 10 per cent on all imports (on value for duty) except under British preferential tariff; War-time Prices and Trade Board to safeguard against unjustified price increase.

(2) Automobiles—New schedule of taxes as follows: On value up to $700, 10 per cent; on value between $700 and $900, 20 per cent; on value between $900 and $1,200, 40 per cent; on value in excess of $1,200, 80 per cent.

B. Tax on wartime profits:
"Excess profits tax: Option 'A,' i.e., graduated tax on basis of capital employed withdrawn. All must pay under option 'B,' which applies to profits in excess of profits in standard or base period. The rate of tax on excess profits is increased from 50 per cent to 75 per cent.

Minimum Rates Set for Companies

A minimum tax is provided for. For companies the combined corporation income tax and excess profits tax shall not be less than 30 per cent of income. For unincorporated businesses the minimum tax is 12 per cent.

A board of referees to assist in administration of tax is provided for. Special provisions made for adjusting standard profits in the case of new and depressed business and in case of gold and oil producers.

Exemption for small business where profits do not exceed $5,000. Proprietors and partnerships allowed deductions for salaries up to $5,000 for each proprietor or partner.

C. Taxes designed primarily to secure revenue:

1. Direct taxes:
(a) Personal income: Very

Taxes under the Special War Revenue Act covering cigars, cigarette papers, matches, furs, automobiles, tires and tubes, carbonic gas, and sales tax exemptions, effective midnight tonight.

Excise tax changes covering cigarettes, manufactured tobacco, and malt-syrup, effective midnight tonight.

The new excise tax of 10 cents per pound on Canadian raw leaf tobacco when sold for consumption will become effective Aug. 1, 1940.

A 10 per cent tax is imposed on all imports (on value for duty) except those commodities entered under the British Preferential Tariff. This, also, is to conserve foreign exchange, Col. Ralston said.

The graduated rate provided as option "A" in the excess profits tax imposed last September is withdrawn and all must pay under option "B," with the rate increased from 50 per cent to 75 per cent.

SMOKERS PAY MORE

Smokers will be called on to pay more taxes with the cigarette tax raised from $5 to $6 per 1,000, manufactured tobacco from 25 to 35 cents a pound, cigarette papers and tubes from 2 to 5 cents per 100, raw leaf tobacco 10 cents a pound (new), cigar taxes doubled and on matches increased by one-third.

Other so-called sumptuary taxes include a new imposition of 10 per cent on phonographs, cameras, radios, and radio tubes.

The tax on carbonic acid gas used in soft drinks is increased from 2 cents to 5 cents a pound, and the rates on rubber tires and tubes, now 2 and 3 cents a pound respectively, goes to a flat 5 cents.

Only liquor tax increases were in imported malt syrup which goes from 21 cents a pound to 24 cents.

Furs, dressed or dyed will be taxed 12 per cent instead of 8 as at present.

Sales tax exemptions to home canners is limited to 10,000 one-pound cans and sales of flowers by farmer-florists will be exempt only up to $500.

NO TAX ON GAS

There was no change in the sales tax rate and the widely-felt apprehension that a tax would be placed on gasoline was not realized.

Tariff changes were almost entirely restricted to technical amendments to facilitate administration but changes are made in the tax fixed last September whereby less tea will be dutiable at the minimum rate of 5 cents a pound and more at the rates of 7½ cents and 10 cents.

Col. Ralston estimated the total receipts from new taxation for the current fiscal year would realize $110,000,000.

This would bring total revenues for the year to $760,000,000 but total expenditures were estimated at $1,148,000,000 even if war costs are kept down to the $700,000,000 for which provision has been made.

In view of other commitments for war purposes, the minister said it would not be safe to count on an overall deficit of less than from $550,000,000 to $600,000,000.

tax of 10 cents a pound. Cigars, rates under Special War Revenue Act are doubled. Matches, rates increased by one-third.

(B) Phonographs, cameras, radios and radio tubes, new tax of 10 per cent; (c) carbonic acid gas used in soft drinks; rate increased from 2 cents a pound to 5 cents a pound. (d) Tires and tubes, rates previously 2 cents and 3 cents a pound, respectively, increased to 5 cents a pound.

D. Tax changes made for administrative reasons:

(1) Imported malt syrup, increased from 21 cents a pound to 24 cents a pound.

(2) Furs, dressed or dyed, increased from 8 per cent to 12 per cent. (3) Sales tax exemption to home canners limited to 10,000 cans of one pound each and to farmer florists to $500 of sales of flowers.

Duties on Tea Readjusted

3. Tariff changes:
Tariff amendments are confined almost exclusively to technical changes intended to facilitate customs administration or to remove inequities resulting from, or aggravated by, the war. Most of these implement recommendations made by the tariff board. The additional duties of 5, 7½ or 10 cents a pound imposed on tea last September are being readjusted so that less tea will be dutiable at the lowest rate of 5 cents a pound and more at the rates of 7½ cents and 10 cents a pound.

See text of budget speech on page 9.

U.S. Republicans Open Convention

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Moving at a swift pace, the Republican national convention disposed of preliminary routine in a 40-minute session today and headed for the real work of picking a candidate for the United States presidency.

Demonstrations were few in the convention hall.

In rapid fire order, the convention gave formal vestments to credentials, rules, permanent organization and platform committees. Then the delegates trooped back downtown where the talk of Wendell Willkie of New York for the nomination was going full blast.

From the headquarters of Senator Taft of Ohio came a statement attributed to Samuel E. Boys of Plymouth, Ind., Willkie's native state, which said, "Willkie won't suit a lot of Republicans." He listed two reasons—that Willkie was a former Democrat and that he is a utilities man.

Even before the delegates left their hotels to begin nearly a week of oratory and balloting, one question was getting ever-increasing attention:

How have the rising claims of Wendell Willkie, a late starter in the presidential race, affected the fortunes of Senator Robert A. Taft, Thomas E. Dewey and a half dozen other aspirants?

Willkie forces, encouraged by demonstrations for the utilities executive here at the week-end, were changing their strategy and working for a strong first ballot showing instead of holding back for a later drive.

But while the bulk of the eddying delegates talked candidates, the platform committee solemnly considered its foreign policy. A declaration for standing aloof from the European war appeared certain.

The Washington State delegation is largely in the Dewey column, but some of the members, watching the growing Willkie sentiment believe the delegation should recognize the trend.

Although few Pacific Northwest delegates are willing to concede Willkie more than a longshot chance of obtaining the presidential nomination, several Washington delegates are of the opinion the state should have at least one Willkie supporter close to his headquarters "just in case."

An unsigned statement indirectly expressing opposition to Wendell Willkie as a potential nominee was circulated by a group of Republican members of the United States House of Representatives who refused to disclose its authorship.

Some of those familiar with the situation, declining use of their names, claimed that House Republican congressional delegations from 20 states had been polled and that the majority of their members were back of the movement.

R.A.F. Rake Main Points

LONDON (CP)—An Air Ministry communique tonight said: "Yesterday daylight attacks were made by our bombers on railway junctions and airfields in Holland and Germany. Three of our aircraft are missing."

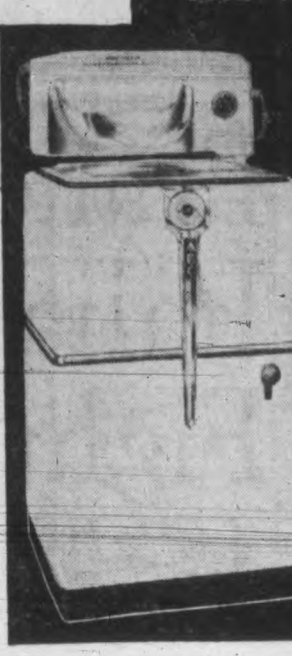

"Last night attacks were continued on military objectives in Germany. These included munition factories, marshalling yards and railway junctions in Mecklenburg, the Ruhr and the Rhineland. Heavy damage was done. Our aircraft returned safely."

The Air Ministry last night stated:

"It is now established that in the course of the night attacks on this country by enemy aircraft during last week, two enemy bombers were brought down and destroyed by our balloon barrage. These two enemy losses are in addition to those already reported as having been inflicted by our fighter aircraft and anti-aircraft gunfire."

Pledges from France's Colonies

Many French Rally At de Gaulle's Call

LONDON (CP)—Large numbers of volunteers in and out of uniform swarmed today into the new headquarters of Gen. Charles de Gaulle on the Thames Embankment.

Soldiers of the present war and of the last were prominent among those who came to answer the French general's radio call to all Frenchmen to join him in continuing the fight at Britain's side.

Gen. de Gaulle himself, still in uniform despite the Bordeaux government's act in stripping him of his rank, was present as the headquarters were being set up.

Informed diplomatic sources said today that although Gen. de Gaulle has the fullest support of the British government, Britain is maintaining diplomatic relations with the French government in Bordeaux and with the French ambassador, Charles Corbin, who remains in London. Members of the French naval, military and air staffs attached to missions in London appeared at their offices in mufti. A spokesman said they were awaiting further orders.

A typical response to Gen. de Gaulle's appeal came from the Michelin Tire Company, a French concern at Stoke-on-Trent, whose 10-departmental managers offered their "personal services" for use in any way. They also offered to turn over the plant to increase war output by making munitions, airplane parts and tanks.

COLONIES PLEDGE SUPPORT

The government announced yesterday it had received pledges of support from the French colonial Empire expressing determination to carry on the war against Germany despite the armistice signed at Compeigne Forest.

The British government's formal announcement that the signing of the armistice "brings to an end the organized resistance of the French forces at home" declared that in the French colonial Empire "a more robust spirit prevails."

Pledges of support from Syria, French Indo-China, Morocco, Senegal, the Cameroons and Jibuti were announced.

South of Bellegarde the Germans also attacked in the Grenoble area, drawing many French troops from the front, where the Italians increased their pressure on the high Alpine passes.

5 Civilians Wounded In Malta Raid

CAIRO (AP)—A Royal Air Force communiqué today said: "A large force of enemy bombers escorted by flight fighters raided Malta yesterday. In all, 60 aircraft came over the island, yet very little damage was done and only five civilians were wounded."

An Italian pilot was rescued from the sea after a parachute descent.

"Italian bomber ST9, attempting a reconnaissance over Malta, was intercepted and shot down in flames. The pilot of this plane also was rescued from the sea after parachuting, but the other five crewmen are missing."

Britain Hears Japan Protest Against Arms

TOKYO (AP)—Japan today protested to Britain against the alleged arms traffic through Burma to China and demanded the right to station inspectors to enforce a ban on their flow.

Announcement of the protest followed reports in circles close to the government that Japan was planning to take a "stronger hand" in regard to British and French possessions in the southern Orient.

Japan has protested repeatedly to France against the alleged transportation of war materials through French Indo-China to China.

The French government replied last week that it had no objection to Japan stationing inspectors to check on the traffic, but said that for many months nothing except petroleum had been passing into China by that route.

French Indo-China, Burma and Soviet Russia have been the main channels by which the Shungking government has received supplies.

More than 30 kinds of harmless impurities are contained in ordinary faucet water.

War Creates Trade Problem

OTTAWA (CP)—Management of Canada's foreign exchange and international balances to care for war purchases was described to the Commons today by Finance Minister Ralston.

"One feature of our economic activity since the outbreak of war, which is of special concern and deserves special mention here, is the great increase in our imports," he said. "Most of these increased imports have had to come from countries outside the British Empire."

"In normal times we are able to use all excess receipts from our trade with one country to meet any deficits in our trade with another. At this time, however, when Britain has such vital need of gold and United States dollars to purchase planes and other war equipment, we cannot expect her to settle all her trade balance with us in gold or foreign exchange."

"Since the United Kingdom could not supply us with goods to pay for all her purchases here, and since, as I have just explained, the sterling with which she was able to pay for these purchases could not be converted into dollars in the normal way, other measures were necessary. The Canadian government undertook to accept and use this sterling in buying Canadian securities from Britain and thus to provide her with Canadian dollars with which to pay for purchases of Canadian goods."

FACED BY TWO PROBLEMS

"While such purchases of Canadian securities held in London will, of course, strengthen our financial position on international account, nevertheless two immediate problems face us."

"In the first place, our domestic market must absorb new securities to a corresponding amount. In the second place, the fact that the surplus sterling arising from our trade with Britain cannot be converted into United States dollars and must be used up by repatriation of securities means that our increased sales to Britain do not help us, as they would in normal times, to pay for the heavy imports of which I have spoken from non-Empire countries."

"The result is that we must find from some other source the United States dollars needed to pay for the greater part of our imports from that country."

"More recently, and despite the utmost care in selecting as far as possible Canadian sources of supply, the government's war orders have contributed directly and indirectly to this increase in imports from hard currency countries."

"It is apparent that already there has developed, between consumers and private business on the one hand, and the government and firms supplying government orders on the other, an active competition for foreign exchange with which to purchase imports. The problem of policy thus posed is not one of maintaining an exchange rate. The powers of the foreign exchange control board are quite adequate to do that."

"The problem is to ensure that, in handling the supply of foreign exchange which may be, from time to time, available, war requirements shall take priority over other requirements, and that to some degree also the requirements of industries which are exporting goods and therefore assisting us to acquire foreign exchange, shall take priority over the requirements of domestic trade."

Salt Spring Island

GANGES—The board of directors of the Farmer's Institute, meeting in Mahon Hall under the chairmanship of William Crawford, decided to proceed with the erection of a feed storage building.

The resignation of R. O. King as vice-president was accepted, the president paying tribute to his excellent work.

At an emergency meeting of Ganges Chapter I.O.G.E., held at the home of Mrs. W. M. Moutat to consider an appeal from the National Chapter for funds for the I.O.G.E. bomber, the sum of $50 was voted and a tag day to raise a further amount arranged for June 27. A further suggestion that a levy of twenty-five cents per member be made at the next meeting on July 5, the amount collected to be forwarded to the same fund, was adopted.

At a committee meeting of Ganges branch of the Red Cross Society, the resignation of Mrs. A. J. Shipley, convener, was accepted. Mrs. Shipley and her family are leaving for Victoria. The position of convener for Red Cross work has been taken by Mrs. M. B. Moutat, who will be assisted by Miss M. Lees.

The June meeting of the Guild of Sunshine took the form of a garden party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Cross, Ganges Harbor.

British 'Press Opinion on Armistice

No Peace for French Despite Signed Terms

LONDON (CP)—Text of the statement from Prime Minister Churchill, in regard to the Franco-Nazi armistice terms, follows:

"His Majesty's government has heard with grief and amazement that the terms dictated by the German have been accepted by the French government at Bordeaux."

"They can not feel that such, or similar, terms could have been submitted to by any French government which possessed freedom, independence and constitutional authority."

"Such terms, if accepted by the Frenchmen, would place not only France, but the French Empire, entirely at the mercy and in the power of the German and Italian dictators."

AGAINST ALLIES

"Not only would the French people be held down and forced to work against their Allies; not only would the soil of France be used with the approval of the Bordeaux government as the means of attacking their Allies, but the whole resources of the French Empire and the French navy would speedily pass into the hands of the adversary for the fulfillment of his purpose."

"His Majesty's government firmly believe that whatever happens, they will be able to carry on the war wherever it may be; on the seas, in the air and on land, to a successful conclusion."

CHERISH FRENCH CAUSE

"When Great Britain is victorious, she will, in spite of the action of the Bordeaux government, cherish the cause of the French people, and a British victory is the only possible hope for the restoration of France and the freedom of its people."

"Brave men from other countries, overrun by Nazi invasion, are steadfastly fighting in the ranks of freedom."

"Accordingly, His Majesty's government call upon all Frenchmen outside the power of the enemy to aid them in their task, and thereby render its accomplishment more sure and more swift."

"They appeal to all Frenchmen, wherever they may be, to aid to the utmost of their strength the forces of liberation, which are enormous and which, faithfully and resolutely used, will assuredly prevail."

"The Daily Mail called it a 'shameful surrender' and declared that 'in imposing these terms Hitler gives us yet another warning, if such be needed, of his ultimate aim in all this war—conquest of Britain.'"

"The Evening News was the mildest of the three evening papers and, after describing the armistice as a 'betrayal,' found encouragement in the fact that 'millions of brave, determined Frenchmen are refusing to accept a brief respite from the horrors of war at the price of the enslavement of their land.'"

MARCH ON!

"France will not desert," the London Daily Herald predicted. "Always in her heart she will carry the messages of the Mar-seillaise—March on! March on! At the very moment when Marshal Petain's chief delegate put his pen to the armistice terms, the second French revolution was born."

"The Daily Herald said 'the plenipotentiaries of Marshal Petain have served up France to Hitler on a dining-car table.'"

"They have put the French revolution into reverse."

Britain, while the leaders of the peace party, headed by Marshal Petain and President Lebrun and backed by Gen. Maxime Weygand, said the French army could do no more.

"But the man who did the most to swing the peace move was Paul Baudouin, mysterious millionaire banker," Millar reported. "He has worked at this ever since he entered the cabinet... also in support of the peace move was Jean Prouvost, director of the biggest French newspaper, the Paris Soir, and a big business man as well."

PETAIN REPLIES

BORDEAUX (CP/Havas)—Following is the text of Premier Petain's reply to Prime Minister Winston Churchill's criticism of the Franco-German armistice:

"The government and people of France heard with sad amazement the words of Mr. Churchill. We understand the anguish that dictates it. Mr. Churchill fears for his own country the evils that have crushed our country during the last month."

"Nonetheless, the circumstances are not such that Frenchmen can tolerate without protesting the lessons offered by a minister abroad. Mr. Churchill is the judge of his country's interests, but not of ours. Still less is he the judge of French honor."

"Our flag remains unstained. Our army fought bravely and loyally. Inferior in arms and in numbers, it had to ask a halt in the fighting."

"It has done so, I state, in independence and dignity. 'Nothing that happens will divide Frenchmen at a moment when their country is suffering.'"

"ASKS U.S. UNDERSTANDING—At the same time a member of the French government, in an appeal for understanding in the United States, declared today that France's decision to seek peace with Germany and Italy was taken with full independence of action."

"The statement disavowed all former members of the government who fled the country and urged Frenchmen not to continue resistance by forming a factional government in London which, it declared, would only create dissension."

"(This apparently referred to the French National Committee, whose formation in Britain was announced last night by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, former under-secretary of war in Premier Reynaud's cabinet.)"

"The statement, attacked 'the present British failure to understand,' and claimed that when the French first advised the British they would have to seek an armistice Prime Minister Churchill told Paul Reynaud, then premier, that Britain 'would understand.'"

MANDEL BLAMED

"The government indicated the change in Britain's attitude was due partly to the former minister of the interior, Georges Mandel, saying he had tried to make Britain insist that France must carry on at all costs.

In a seven-page apology, the member of the government said: "We ask our friends in America to try to understand France's immense sadness. We do not seek to hide the errors of our country."

"We regret that certain members of the British government criticize us unjustly. We wish our English friends to respect our sadness and examine their own conscience."

"The minister asserted Britain, before the war, had promised to send into France 26 divisions (some 390,000 men) during the first month's hostilities. Instead, he declared, while France kept men 48 years old under arms, Britain had not yet mobilized men of 28."

He said that last March a French newspaper delegation went to Britain and found proof the war effort was "insufficient."

The British, the minister added, carried on a "traditional" form of warfare. On the eve of the great German offensive, he asserted, Britain still appeared to be unprepared, relying on her navy and air force and carrying on a "business as usual" policy with 500,000 jobless men still on her hands."

NOT HONORABLE

NEW YORK (CP)—"The stark and terrible fact is that the two great democratic peoples of Europe are allies no longer."

The New York Times today thus summed up the results of the armistice imposed on France and declared the French peoples themselves "will have to be the judges, some day, of the pitiless armistice terms imposed upon them at Compiègne and Rome."

"They will have many occasions to wonder whether these fearful punishments are any lighter than if their government had continued to fight from colonial or foreign soil," it said.

"The only real independence that is left to France will survive in the souls of the French people."

"The tormented French people are now caught between the German hammer and the British anvil. They will hate their German and Italian conquerors and perhaps also their politicians who brought catastrophe upon them. One can only hope and pray that they will not transfer some of their hate toward their former comrades in arms across the Channel."

"NOT HONORABLE—Said the Herald Tribune: 'The government which could sign these terms not only puts France in the position of leaving Great Britain in the lurch in her desperate hour, but undertakes to require all Frenchmen everywhere to make themselves into silent partners of Hitlerism and passive allies, in effect, in the reduction of what is now the last citadel of civilized Europe. This is not an honorable surrender."

British Ambassador Leaves French Soil

BORDEAUX, France (AP)—The last links with Britain apparently were severed today by the departure of British ambassador Sir Ronald Campbell and the subsequent broadcast announcement from London that Britain could no longer recognize the French government at Bordeaux.

General Maxime Weygand, commander of the French forces, said Adolf Hitler had promised the German armies would remain 10 miles outside of Bordeaux—present seat of the French government—pending the outcome of current armistice negotiations.

A line of white flags north and east of Bordeaux marked the "safety zone," and Weygand said he had telegraphed the German high command a description of its location.

"CERTIFIED PERFORMANCE"

21 SPECIFICATIONS

IT'S EVERYTHING THAT IT'S NAME IMPLIES...

CP (Certified Performance) gas ranges incorporate all the wonderful modern improvements, 21 strict points of detailed specification as laid down by an international committee of gas range manufacturers. Behind each of these 21 points lies a story of strictest standards and rigid tests. For instance, CP gas ranges must have the ability to increase oven temperature from room to 500° F. in 11 minutes or less... oven must reach baking temperature of 350° F. within six minutes... this is twice as fast as the majority of ranges in use. The new Moffat-Roper Gas Ranges, boasting the CP Seal of Approval, are now on display at our Douglas Street Showrooms. Come in and hear the important CP story and learn why Certified Performance is everything that its name implies.

Our Job Now

LAST THURSDAY IN THESE COLUMNS we said the peoples of the Commonwealth had emerged into the clear light of stark reality, that the collapse of France had placed the great issue squarely up to the British family, and that we might henceforward find some measure of satisfaction in a condition which made it no longer necessary or desirable to speculate on the thoughts or actions of other nations. We had in mind a speech Mr. Churchill delivered a month ago in which we detected certain misgivings; he had vaguely warned that perhaps the time was not far distant when we might have to "go it alone." His classic utterance of June 4 shed a little more light on what he plainly implied were dark and incalculable days ahead: "We shall defend our island; we shall fight on the beaches; we shall fight on the landing grounds; we shall fight in the fields and in the hills." These were the words of a man who knows no fear—speaking for a people ready to die that liberty and decency may survive.

Surely it will not have to be said, however, that the British Prime Minister expected a French government to follow the Nazi example and disregard the solemn pledge made in behalf of the people of France. That undertaking proscribed a separate peace. And it is being said and will be repeated that when that understanding was reached between the ministry in Downing Street and the ministry at the Quai d'Orsay the conflict had not assumed the proportions or the seriousness which has marked its rapidity and brutality in the weeks that have elapsed since the Nazi hordes marched into the Low Countries. Admittedly, poor purpose will be served by exhortations which will have to be undertaken at a later date, but in all its glaring nakedness today this hideous truth stands out: The administration over which that distinguished figure in French military history presides has accepted the German and Italian terms for an armistice. Perhaps before this is read the totalitarian taskmasters will have given the order to cease fire.

Not only has he served the purpose of that element in French politics which evidently conspired him to do its bidding; Premier Petain is now setting out on a campaign of explanation which he obviously feels necessary. Nobody will object to this procedure. On the other hand, the 84-year-old Premier should not be surprised if Mr. Churchill continues to feel his "grief and amazement" at France's acceptance of the armistice terms. The aged marshal who defended Verdun so valiantly against the German hordes in 1916 tells us the head of the British government is not the judge of France's best interests and "even less can he judge French honor." Neither of these considerations would appear to be insistently at issue. But when Premier Petain said at Bordeaux this morning that France "merits the respect of the world," and that it is through herself first of all that she "expects to be reborn," most people will wonder what happened in the discussion of Britain's offer of a union of the British and French empires. Possibly this question will be asked: Did the opponents of the plan—heartily approved, we are told, by Premier Reynaud—think first of all of the magnificent courage and capacity for sacrifice of the French people, or of a way out for themselves? All in good time we may learn the answer to this and other even more pertinent and searching inquiries.

Many things will be said by both British and French statesmen during the next day or so that will not smooth away the present complexities. Some of them no doubt could not have been said if the Petain government had at least observed the sanctity of the pledged word—if it had not ignored the fundamental fact that the plight of France has been brought about by the actions of men who did place some reliance in the brutalitarian promise. Surely neither Marshal Petain nor any of his colleagues who found it desirable to get rid of M. Reynaud really expect that when all the demands of the armistice with Germany and Italy have been fulfilled there will be no further impositions. If that be the state of the official mind, however, who is there to blame Great Britain when she refuses to recognize any longer the type of authority which totalitarian technique so completely duped at Munich. And when a government spokesman at Bordeaux says that "our foreign policy will not be dictated by England, Germany or Italy," but "will be only French," it is scarcely likely he will influence those Frenchmen abroad who already are aware of the manner in which their country's interests have been handled. They know, as all who can read and think know, that the France of tomorrow will be used to assist in totalitarianism's fight against Britain. And nothing short of the British plan of union could have avoided the horrible conditions of peace.

Speaking from London last night, Mr. Vernon Bartlett, M.P., the man who fought and captured the important Conservative constituency of Bridgewater on the strength of his antipathy to British foreign policy in general and Munich in particular, notes that M. Pierre Laval has shown that he still is thinking of the future of M. Pierre Laval and not the interests of the French people.

An Apologia

SEVEN PAGES ARE USED BY THE Petain government in Bordeaux in an effort to persuade "our friends in America to try to understand France's immense sadness," to express its regret "that certain members of the British government criticize us unjustly," and to suggest that our English friends should "respect our sadness and examine their own conscience." A French ministerial spokesman also deprecates the action of General Charles de Gaulle—who has formed a French National Committee in Britain to speak for France and encourage the French people to continue the fight—and hopes London will not become a "nest of agitation" for political separatists. Our friends in the neighboring republic will understand France's immense sadness. The people of Great Britain will understand it, perhaps, even better. But neither in Washington nor in London will the course of events during the last 48 hours dispel the fear that the French people, the French soldiers who have fought so magnificently against great odds, are now being delivered to a fate that will probably be more horrible than if their government had lived up to its promise—if it had accepted the British offer for a union between the two empires. This would at least have guaranteed early succor in the shape of the assistance from the New World for which M. Reynaud appealed before his colleagues voted him out.

As for General de Gaulle, still in his French uniform although stripped of his rank by the Bordeaux government, he was one of the school of French junior officers who before Munich urged the creation of mechanized divisions and the development of mobile warfare tactics in the French army. Appointed by former Premier Paul Reynaud as Under-Secretary of State for War, he suggested the creation of 11 mechanized divisions. Reynaud supported him. The French General Staff, educated in the old army traditions, rejected the proposals. It might have been a different story now if de Gaulle's advice had been followed then.

The foregoing facts are understood by noted military experts in the United States and elsewhere. In other words, when the French "government spokesman" says today that "on the eve of the great German offensive" Britain still appeared to be "unruffled" and was still carrying on a "traditional form of warfare," he should also apply his remarks to the authorities in office at the Quai d'Orsay three months ago. It all comes back to the tragic fact, of course, that the "appeasers" were in office too long in London and in Paris. Britain got rid of hers. But France's are back in power at Bordeaux.

Three Generations

A POVERTY-STRIKEN CONTINENT, with an extremely high proportion of old persons, and of women in the prime of life, either widowed or condemned to spinsterhood and childlessness, is predicted for Europe if the war continues for long. Because this war has come within one generation of the last major European war, statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company point out that "fathers, children and children's children" are affected. The armies in the present conflict are largely drawn from the generation of young men whose numbers were depleted by the World War. The ranks of European youth, already subnormal, will be further depleted by casualties and absence from civilian life of large numbers of young men at the time they would otherwise be fathering the next generation.

Scions of the last war show in population figures from the first census taken in England, Germany and France after that war. These 1921 figures show that in France, for example, the number of four-year-old children was the same as the number of men and women 65 years old. Normally the four-year-olds should have exceeded these elders by about two to one. England's birth rate was less affected than that of other major belligerents of the World War, but even in that country in 1921 the number of three-year-old children was exceeded by persons at each higher age group but one until the age of 41 years is reached.

FACING FACTS UNFLINCHINGLY

Among the returning expeditionary forces is discovered a German stowaway. Confused in the melee, he evidently believed he was catching the boat for the big invasion. The capitulation of France was a military necessity. This is a truth we should not overlook. The surrender of France leaves Britain and the British Commonwealth to face the combined might of Germany and Italy, who are now in a position to dominate all Europe unless Russia cares to challenge their supremacy.

Plainly the collapse of French military resistance creates dangers to the British peoples that most of us never expected to see in our lifetimes. The perils confronting Anglo-Saxon civilization and free peoples generally, as well as to the Soviet regime, are nearly as great if not quite so imminent. Today's war situation is testing the common sense, courage and loyalty of all British peoples, who, true to their traditions, can be counted on to face the truth unflinchingly and to act energetically in keeping with their fine ideals and principles.

Every vestige of partizanship and prejudice that might prevent the most complete co-operation in strengthening the defenses of the Commonwealth should be swept away. The supreme objective should be to maintain the unity of the nations that have the Union Jack as their symbol and to overcome the onslaughts being prepared by the Nazi-Fascist combination. Our ally who has been beaten to her knees should be thought of kindly. She fought until flesh and blood could hold out no longer. Her outmatched army was magnificent even in defeat.

ECONOMIC REVOLUTION

CANADA FINDS itself today the fourth trader of the world depending more than any other country on exports and with most of its markets gone or drastically curtailed. The United States government plan already forecast is the establishment of a central trading corporation to take over the exports of South America and either to hold them, use them or barter them to friendly nations abroad.

The purpose of this program is to save the South American Republics from the necessity of trading with Europe direct and thus falling under the domination of Germany through the insidious process of barter.

To Canada the key economic question today, probably the most important we have ever faced in our history, is how far the United States is prepared to go in sharing with the Canadian trading structure, along with that of South America, whether it is prepared to take over our surplus exports as well as those of the Southern Republics.

Canada with a billion dollar export is about half as great a problem to the American people as the whole of South America.

To take over South American trade, the United States government believes it would have to advance $1,000,000,000 in the first year and then proceed to reorganize South American industry to make it more self-contained.

Since the United States is already absorbing about $400,000,000 of Canadian exports, some $600,000,000 are left to be handled. At present most of them go to Britain but how much Britain can take under siege conditions remains to be seen. In any case there will be a large surplus.

END RECIPROCITY

IF THE VAST and breath-taking program of the United States goes ahead Canada may well be faced with the largest economic decisions in its history.

All the tariff arrangements of the past, the existing trade treaties will go into the melting pot if Canada decides to get under the umbrella now being held out by its neighbor.

The effects of such changes on our various Canadian industries, especially those protected by existing tariffs cannot be gauged.

This correspondent has discussed the plan with the men in Washington who are devising it and they feel that it will involve a reshaping of the Canadian economy, a reduced production of such products as wheat and, perhaps, an increase in other lines of which the United States does not produce a large surplus.

BOOM IN MUNITIONS

THEY BELIEVE that the shock of this transaction will be cushioned by a war boom in armaments, for this whole content is heading now into the largest military preparations the new world and perhaps the whole world has ever known.

To dovetail the economy of Canada more closely into the United States, to make up for the loss of European markets during the long blockade of Germany, will present to the politicians of Canada the largest problems by far that they have ever tackled, it is believed here.

Whether Canada is willing to go into this deal, and how far the United States will help it no one here can foresee yet but the men who are planning the hemispheric economy believe that not only this country but Canada as well must submit to a degree of government control over the whole economy, over production and distribution, as would have been unthinkable only a week ago.

They believe we are moving in all North America into a new kind of economic system neither free capitalism or socialism but a blend of both on North American lines, something the world has not seen before.

SEPARATE FROM MUNITIONS

ANNOUNCEMENT of the government's plan for the new hemispheric hegemony was handed out by Steven Early, President Roosevelt's secretary, without comment.

But in referring to the disposal of exportable surpluses he did advise correspondents not to approach the story on the assumption that these surpluses meant munitions of war.

Apparently the trade program is something entirely apart from America's plan to ship munitions to Britain during the present siege.

Mr. Early's statement for Canada, undoubtedly a historic document, follows:

"There will be held this afternoon a meeting of the secretaries of state, treasury, agriculture and commerce, in order to conclude the study of the research which has been urgently undertaken during recent months into the most effective manner of disposing profitably of export surpluses in the western hemisphere.

"This study will include the investigation of the problem as it affects the American republics as well as such other countries as may be confronting a similar situation and as may desire to join with the American nations in an efficacious solution of it.

"The final study in the form of a report with recommendations will be submitted at once to the President.

"If it is approved by the President, the report will be transmitted to the other American governments in order that the government of the United States may have the benefit of their views and their suggestions."

Why France Fell

G. H. Archambault, in cable from Tours, France, to New York Times.

THE APPALLING TRAGEDY of the military situation today lies in its inevitability—to wage war, modern total war (here four words were censored), calls for coordination between political and military policies. In France they were diametrically opposed. Diplomacy was bent on making alliances based on eventual military aid, while military policy was based on the defensive and nothing but the defensive.

Hence the creation of the Maginot Line. The general conception was that in the event of aggression the French army would mobilize behind its fortified line and keep the invader at bay. Yet treaties were signed that obligated the French Republic to (here two words were censored) aid, then one word was censored) various powers in various parts of Europe. The two could not be reconciled.

SECRET NOW OUT

So that when here one word was censored) war began Poland was invaded, but France could give no other help than that by setting out to attack the Westwall. Very soon the attack was suspended; it is no secret today that by the time the Germans had overrun Poland and were ready to move troops thence westward the French had not sufficient material to batter their way through the Westwall.

The French forces were brought back to their starting points and there began a period of "expectant inaction." It lasted many months in very disadvantageous psychological conditions. The Maginot Line remained a symbol—and a pretext—for doing nothing to modify the prevailing conditions. Stress was laid on the facts that this time, at any rate, the Germans had not been able to invade France, that thanks to the fortified positions the war had cost very few human lives, that there was nothing more to be done than to wait for Chancellor Hitler's offensive.

SUICIDAL COMPLACENCY

In a dispatch written at the opening of the seventh month of the war this correspondent drew attention to a series of dangers menacing troops relatively inactive in winter quarters—routine sending to become parasitic, plethoric growth of sedentary services, increase of bureaucratic methods making for delay and several other breeding complacency.

The hope was then expressed that the mere fact that such dangers could be enumerated in a dispatch passed by the censor was proof that they were not overlooked.

STRATEGY DEFEATS

In the meantime the defects of NOT THE FIRST TIME From Winnipeg Free Press

This is not the first time that a barbarous conqueror has had his foot across the very threshold of the household gods of freedom. Little more than a century has passed since all Europe lay under the heel of such a man. That was a time when, in its darkest hour, William Pitt could say of his country, "England has saved herself by her exertions and will, I trust, save Europe by her example." England in 1940, let us speak frankly, is not yet saved, though she possesses today, as she had in 1805, a leader of enormous power, inspiration and resources. Her testing time lies still ahead, and it is vital to her that she should know that at her side stand faithful, strong and willing friends. Canada among these stands first. No matter how long the course, how hard the fight, Canada will stand steady. By our exertions we will help to save Britain and France, and by our example we can yet save Europe, the new world, in Churchill's great phrase, coming to the rescue of the old.

Better English

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "He was the only man who forecasted the correct result."

2. What is the correct pronunciation of "comely"?

3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Horible, horizontal, horizon.

4. What does the word "documentary" mean?

5. What is a word beginning with "n" that means "a group of persons who meet familiarly?"

Answers

1. Present usage prefers "He was the only man who forecast the correct result." 2. Pronounce the "o" as in come. 3. Horrible. 4. Pertaining to, or based upon documents; contained or certified in writing. "We have documentary proof of these things." 5. Coteries.

HARD THINKING

From Winnipeg Free Press

Canadians have been doing some hard and salutary thinking these last few days. They realize now that wars are not to be won by waiting on events. They know that valuable ground has been gained by the enemy. They know that it is possible that the war in these next few weeks may take a form of greater horror and tragedy than they had ever envisaged. But at the same time, they know with a certitude born of moral conviction that whatever responsibilities we may be

LOANS WITHOUT ENDORSERS

You can borrow $100 on your own signature, if you can repay $7.78 a month—No credit questions asked of friends or relatives—See table for other loans and payment plans—Quick, private service

You can borrow $20 to $500—without endorsers or guarantors—if you can make regular monthly payments on your loan. You may make these payments on the schedule which best fits your monthly income. You may repay a small amount each month. Or you may repay in larger instalments and thus reduce the cost.

Choose your own payments

Suppose that you need a $100 loan. You find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across, picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will find, for instance, that monthly payments of $7.78 each will repay your loan in full in fifteen months. Or, if you wish to repay sooner, you may make twelve monthly payments of $9.46 each. When you Borrow at Household Finance, you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. The sooner you repay, the less your loan costs. The payments shown in the table, when made on schedule, include all charges. You pay nothing more.

Mines Field Day Held at Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Cumberland No. 2 team won the rescue contest which featured the 25th annual mines field day Saturday.

A total of 43 teams from all sections of the province competed in the mine rescue and first aid competitions.

"We must keep our chins up and carry on," said Hon. W. J. Asselstine, Minister of Mines, addressing the gathering.

"Every man will soon know, through the government, his allotted place in the fight against the monster which has been turned loose. When he is defeated the mines department will be able to devote more effort to the mining industry."

The minister paid special tribute to the work of J. W. Dickson, chief inspector of mines.

Mine rescue awards were made as follows: First prize, Cumberland No. 2 team, Thomas Eccleston, captain; 2, No. 1 mine team, C. Mills, captain; 3, Cumberland No. 1 team, A. Soomerville, captain; 4, Cumberland No. 8 team, J. Weir, captain; 5, Northfield mine, J. Good, captain; 6, Beban mine, J. Unsworth, captain.

Winners of first aid contests were:

V.M.G.A. Cup (junior boys), won by: 1, Nanaimo, R. Wallace, captain; 2, Cumberland, W. Vahle, captain.

Western Fuel Cup (junior girls): 1, South Wellington, Joyce Thatcher, captain; 2, Nanaimo, Joyce Bradwell, captain.

McKenzie Cup (novice event, male): 1, Britannia Beach, J. Kiemola, captain; 2, Powell River, S. Slade, captain.

R. J. Filberg Cup (senior women, open): 1, Nanaimo, Mrs. W. Roger, captain; 2, Cumberland, Miss E. Laing, captain.

Lady Kathleen Villiers Cup (senior women, open): 1, Cumberland, Mrs. M. Westfield, captain; 2, Nanaimo, Mrs. A. Sharp, captain.

Department of Mines Cup (senior men): 1, Cumberland, S. Lawrence, captain; 2, Franklin River, A. Devoy, captain.

Col. Villiers Cup (men, open): 1, Nanaimo, J. Smith, captain; 2, Bralorne mine, W. B. Clark, captain.

Comox Logging Cup (open): 1, Nanaimo, W. Fulton Jr., captain; 2, Nanaimo, J. Smith, captain.

FARMERS FEAR LABOR SHORTAGE

There is a shortage of farm labor and those working on the land at top speed to aid Canada's war effort with produce of all kinds are becoming worried.

A number of dairy farmers in Saanich have been unable to secure hired help in recent weeks, despite better wages and good living conditions.

"It is absolutely essential that we keep up our food production," said C. H. Williams, secretary of the South Vancouver Island Dairy-men's Association, in making an appeal for workers for the land.

"Wages for farm work are improving, but it is evident general working conditions on the farms will have to improve even more," Mr. Williams said. Higher wages will send farm produce up in price, he said, intimating a rise in the price of milk was not improbable.

He asked that any men ineligible for service in the army get in touch with him at 745 Pandora Avenue. Boys leaving high school this month, interested in farm work, are also asked to communicate with Mr. Williams.

Present farm wages for single men are $25 to $40 a month, with room and board, and about $60 for married men, with free rent and milk.

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Bileful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, weak and the world looks pink.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you jump out of bed in the morning rarin' to go.

Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. See.

Women's Service Club Has Field Day

Mrs. Norman Kennedy, provincial controller (left), taking the salute.

Led by Mrs. Howard Reid, C Company demonstrates anti-gas, air raid drill.

Nucleus of a growing army of women inspired by the patriotic zeal which animated the Amazons of a bygone era, the B.C. Women's Service Club yesterday afternoon staged a most effective demonstration of all-round efficiency before a large and interested gathering of spectators.

The occasion was the field day organized by the provincial command, held on the sports ground of the Royal Naval Barracks, and over 200 members of companies from Victoria, Sidney and Courtenay took part in the various drills and demonstrations, while officers from New Westminster, Kelowna, Port Alberni and Cowichan represented their companies which were unable to attend. The women presented a smart appearance as they paraded in their blue skirts, white shirts, blue ties and blue berets, the officers wearing navy blue sweaters, colored armbands designating each of the six companies.

Although the age limit is supposedly 18 to 45, a number of veterans appeared in the ranks. Courtenay company, of which about 40 members were present, was commanded by Mrs. Clive, whose service ribbons tell a story of notable service in the Great War as an overseas nursing sister. She served at Gallipoli and other fronts, and holds the Mons Star, the Victory medal, as well as the Royal Red Cross and other nursing decorations. Also in this company is Mrs. G. H. Swain, of Courtenay, who admits to being well over 60 and the mother of a son in the Canadian Scottish. Despite her grey hairs, she stepped it out with the best of them and never misses a drill or a lecture.

Mrs. Swain is a busy woman for she owns a small farm and looks after her own cows and chickens, but sees no reason why every woman should not "do her bit," whatever their age. "What do your years matter if your spirit is right?" she said in answer to a query as to how she managed to keep up with the younger women in the fatiguing drill and lectures. "We've all got to do something to help Britain win this war, and I like to feel that I shall know what to do if the occasion arises."

THE MARCH PAST

The six companies fell in on the parade ground under Miss A. J. McLennan, deputy controller for B.C. They performed various drill evolutions under their company commanders and were then inspected by Mrs. Norman Kennedy, provincial controller of the B.C. Women's Service Club, who took the salute, accompanied by Mrs. Alan Morkill, assistant controller.

After the inspection, teams from the various companies gave demonstrations of the varied branches of work undertaken by the club. A Company demonstrated signalling in the Morse code with flags, and in a treasure hunt in which the clues were found by means of map reading and the use of prismatic compasses. Sidney company won with the perfect score of 100 per cent.

GAS MASKS AND TIN HATS

C Company, under acting company commander Mrs. Scott, staged a most interesting air raid drill. Wearing regulation tin service helmets, the 20 girls quickly donned gas masks, walked and ran to imaginary stations, tanded "casualties" and generally demonstrated their efficient preparedness in case of air or gas attack.

A squad of stretcher-bearers from Sidney company also demonstrated the handling of casualties and the giving of first aid.

TO DO WAR WORK

At the first meeting of the 1940-1941 executive of the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association it was reported by A. Voge that the drive among local teachers to secure funds to provide an ambulance for overseas service was nearing a successful close, the sum of $1,700 having been realized. It is planned to complete the campaign by the time the schools close on June 26.

The matter of the voluntary registration of teachers for war work during the summer months was discussed, and motion from the Trail-Tadane Teachers' Association to implement such a registration was heartily endorsed. Forms for this purpose are already being distributed among local teachers, and all are urged to place their service at the disposal of the government immediately.

A complete slate of committees and special representatives for the coming year was prepared by the executive as follows: Constitution and by-laws committee, Miss C. MacNab, H. Farquhar, T. Horne; social committee, Miss E. Cameron; department representatives committee, H. Farquhar, T. Horne, Miss Copeland, M. Claspell, Miss S. Reap, Miss M. Clay; geographical representative, G. H. E. Green; press and magazine representative, B. C. Gille.

After an interval for tea, served by D Company, a sports program was run off, rounding off a most interesting and convincing exhibition of determination and stick-to-itiveness, coupled with disciplined efficiency which well deserves official recognition.

Burton's Elena was the best kid of the show. A Toggenburg, it is owned by Misses W. and K. Burton. In the Saanen and Nubian classes, Miss Rosamond Smart's entries took major honors. The Burton kids were top in the Toggenburg classes. G. Mowatt also did well.

Care of Refugee Children Is Big Responsibility

Children Must Not Be Exploited, Warns Charlotte Whitton

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians offering the hospitality of their homes to refugee children from the British Isles must do so "with their eyes open and a full realization of the heavy responsibilities implied," Miss Charlotte Whitton, secretary of the Canadian Welfare Council, warned last night.

Movement of young war refugees is being organized by the Canadian and British governments in close co-operation with provincial governments and the entire Canadian social agency structure.

Careful selection of homes and arrangements for supervision by child-caring agencies and facilities for medical and educational care will do much to reassure parents of the refugees, Miss Whitton said, and so prospective Canadian foster parents must realize the responsibility placed upon them.

NOT WEEK-END VISIT

"People who look upon this work as a sporadic splash of service in the nature of a week-end visit can do the whole movement irreparable harm."

"Those who are not prepared to face the consequences of this should think twice now before taking steps which might lead to complications later on."

The children will require real homes where their own personalities will be respected and a "sense of belonging" established. There must be provision for physical care, emotional and social happiness, and religious and educational training.

"The Canadian people will therefore realize that it will not be desirable to place these little visitors within our gates in any home that is itself receiving relief or other forms of social aid, or where the child's help in house or farm work is sought."

Canada cannot allow the danger of having these children sought for their money value. "It is the object," said Miss Whitton, "to provide refugee children with home conditions as nearly as possible to those they have known."

"Consequently, homes where there are only aged persons or single unit homes with unmarried heads, cannot be thought of as ordinarily offering a background and experience to give the child the understanding and companionship that he or she will need. Lonely children especially must not be left to themselves or to casual care."

Rally Wednesday at Government House

The Girl Guide and Brownie House on Wednesday promises to be an outstanding success. An interesting program has been arranged.

The march past, always a colorful and inspiring sight, will start at 3 and the salute will be taken by His Honor the Lieut. Governor. Colors are to be presented to the James Bay Guide Company.

A Brownie ceremonial will take place, during which His Honor and Mrs. Hamber will receive the Brownie Grand Howl, followed by a singing game illustrating part of Brownie training. Various companies will demonstrate Guide work.

The girls' pipe band will be in attendance, and the Lady Douglas Company pipers will pipe His Honor to the saluting base.

There will be stalls for home cooking, candies, ice cream, novelties, useful articles and balloons and many prizes for games of skill.

ST. MARY'S TROOP

The meeting of St. Mary's Troop on Friday evening was opened by Duty Patrol Leader Johnny Jones. The annual troop picture was taken, and afterwards the Scouts had to follow a route which led them to a point near Spoon Bay. There the patrols engaged in a number of competitions of which the Owl Patrol was declared the winner. Winners and pie were served at a campfire. Next week a meeting of those intending to go to the camp at Pemberton Pool on the Sooke River will be held.

CANADIAN AUTHORS

The monthly meeting of the Victoria Branch, Canadian Authors' Association, was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. McCarter, 3507 Cadboro Bay Road.

The president, Mrs. Myrtle Lane, welcomed the members and visitors, and spoke regretfully of the departure of Mrs. L. Beatrice Berton, past president of the branch. A corsage of carnations was presented to Mrs. Berton with best wishes from the members.

The evening's program consisted of work by members of the branch, including poems by Mrs. Robin Breach, Mrs. Hermia Harris Fraser and Mrs. Hope Kerr and the Misses Margaret Sullivan and Pauline Havard.

Miss M. Eugenie Perry read a short-short story of her own from the Crucible, "By a Silken Thread." A play by Mrs. Jean Mutter, "Boy of Mine," was presented, those taking part being Miss Nora Gardin, Miss Pauline Havard, Robert Baird and Don Jacobs.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served refreshments.

Orphanage Juniors Held Successful Tea

The silver tea arranged by the Junior Auxiliary to the B.C. Protestant Orphanage, which was held at the home of Mrs. F. V. Longstaff, King George Terrace, on Saturday, was an outstanding success, netting the sum of $45.50 to assist them in carrying on with the splendid efforts they are making for the welfare of the children at the home.

The general convener was Miss Ethel Savage and the home-cooking stall was in charge of Miss Joan Pickles, assisted by Misses Helen Walker and Violet Harrison.

The guests were welcomed to the lovely garden and home by the honorary president, Mrs. F.

GALEY-SPARROWHAWK

Knox Presbyterian Church was the scene of a pretty wedding Friday evening when Mary, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Sparrowhawk, 2060 Townley Street, was united in marriage to Donald Gordon, elder son of the late Mr. F. Galey and Mrs. Galey, Cordova Bay. For the occasion the church was beautifully decorated by girl friends of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mackie Niven, under a horseshoe suspended from an arch bowered with tall baskets of blue delphiniums and white calla lilies.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore an afternoon frock of crushed clover, with a full skirt and short sleeves with a smocked yoke, high neckline and full sash at the waist. Her off-the-face hat was of navy blue straw, with crushed clover brim. Her only ornament was a gold necklace, the gift of the groom, and her corsage bouquet was white sweet peas, pink rosebuds and orange blossoms.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Kate Sparrowhawk, wearing a powder blue afternoon frock with full skirt, short sleeves and smocked yoke. She wore a navy blue straw hat and a corsage bouquet of pale pink sweet peas and rosebuds. Mr. Alfred Frances supported the groom and Mr. Les Wheelodon was usher.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, when about 75 guests were received by Mrs. Sparrowhawk in a rose pink figured dress and matching accessories, and Mrs. Galey in a pale blue dress and matching accessories. Both wore corsage bouquets of sweet peas and rosebuds.

The rooms were decorated in pale blue and white, the bride and groom receiving congratulations in front of the fireplace, flanked with tall baskets of lilies, delphiniums and pink roses.

A three-tier wedding cake embedded in pale blue tulle centred the bride's table, with tall white tapers in crystal holders and silver vases of pink sweet peas. Rev. Mackie Niven proposed the toast.

The young couple left on the midnight boat for Vancouver, where the honeymoon will be spent. For going-away the bride donned a pale blue coat with grey fur trim over her wedding dress. Among the many beautiful gifts was a comforter from the credit office of David Spencer Limited, where the bride was formerly employed.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Galey will reside at Cordova Bay.

The monthly meeting of Langford Women's Institute will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2.30.

The annual school picnic will be held Tuesday at Ocean Beach.

Langford-Colwood A.Y.P.A. will hold a sports practice and picnic at Ocean Beach Lagoon Monday evening.

Catholic Women Give $25,000

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—

The Catholic Women's League of Canada today voted $25,000 to the Dominion government to be used for war work in any form the government may decide. Announcement was made by Mrs. T. H. Hay, Regina, C.W.L. president, during the league's national convention here.

"This is the first opportunity we, as Catholic Women, have had to prove that we truly work for God and Canada," said Mrs. Hay. "In these days when Christianity is at stake, we are expected to do our duty."

DEMONSTRATION OF SPEECH ARTS GIVEN

The speech arts demonstration given by the Victoria School of Expression on Friday evening was both interesting and unusual in character. Fifteen classes appeared, six being choral verse-speaking items.

The adjudicator was Mrs. Jean Campbell of Winnipeg, who was introduced by Mrs. Wilfrid Ord.

The group speakers held the audience in tense interest by expressive rendering of patriotic poems, "The Call," "Britain," and "For All We Have and Are."

Mrs. Campbell remarked that some of the students gave evidence of longer training than others, and she wished these could have attended the Speech Arts Festival in Vancouver, as they would have received very high marks indeed. Among these she made special mention of Alan Clark, Basil Plimley, Isabelle Brown and Charles Maunsel, and said she was delighted at the quality of the Shakespearean excerpts given. In every case, she said, the work was promising, and indicated fine foundational training. She commented on the entire absence of artificiality, and the poise on the platform of every competitor. She thought a famous speaker or two might be among those heard that night. The adult work was also commended, especially the verse speaking.

Vocal numbers were delightfully sung by small groups, and Daphne Dean and Miriam Goodwin contributed solos. Miss Ethel James ably accompanied and the adjudicator was assisted in the transcription of her adjudications by Miss Dorothy Davies and Captain W. Ord. The program was under the direction of Mrs. Ord.

Those taking part were: John Field, Andre Lindsay, David Kirchner, Raymond Seymour, Evelyn Tiers, Beryl Blandy, Mary Paterson, Marcia Western, John Canova, Bill McClement, Betty Roff, Diana Harshorne, Pat McClement, Bobby Canova, Alan Clark, John Pitts, Joy Kirchner, John Kirchner, Basil Plimley, Charles Maunsel, Isabelle Brown, Victor Mitchell, Mary McLorie, Moya Porter, Joyce Wilkinson, Betty Wallace, Opal Abercrombie, Miriam Goodwin, Daphne Dean, Clemency Ord, Margaret Hodson, Maureen Colman, D. Penderay, Ruth Wilkinson, Arthur Whittingham, Jack Watson, E. Samway, E. Hart, Marquette, A. Marquette, C. Bowring, Mrs. M. Lemon, Mrs. F. Routh, Mrs. K. Roberts, Mrs. I. Canova, Mrs. Kidd, Mrs. A. Brown, Mrs. Kirchner, Mrs. L. Armstrong, Mrs. Colman and the following pupils of Miss Dorothy Davies: Elaine Ford, Donald Blaney, Irene Thomas and Alice Haycroft.

Clubwomen's News

The W.A. to the Jubilee Hospital will meet on Wednesday in the Nurses' Home at 2.30, followed by the annual meeting at 3 o'clock.

The Victoria Handweavers' Guild will hold their regular meeting this evening at 8 at 410 Union Building. Further reports of recent exhibitions will be given.

On Friday evening, June 28, a concert will be put on by the St. Mark's Junior W.A. in the Parish Hall at 8. A good program has been arranged with plays, dances and solos. Tickets are being sold and the funds will go towards their pledge and to church needs.

Princess Margaret Rose, Daughters of England juvenile lodge, will meet on Wednesday at 6.30 in the S.O.E. Hall. Final arrangements are to be made for the garden party to be held at Mrs. Gossnell's, 102 Joseph Street, on Wednesday, July 3. There will also be an initiation.

The Past Matrons' and Patrons' Association, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a garden party at the home of Sister Mary Austin, 508 William Street, tomorrow. The garden party will be opened at 3 o'clock by Sister Austin, past grand matron of B.C. There will be several stalls and afternoon tea and cards.

South Saanich W.I. met in the institute rooms on Thursday evening. The president, Mrs. G. Polson, in the chair. A pair of blankets is to be purchased for the Red Cross, and each member contributed to a special blanket fund as well. A war savings bond is to be purchased in the name of the institute. School reports read by Mrs. Bate and Mrs. Doney showed the school children are doing their best in their small way to help with the war work. A committee was formed to meet the Farmers' Institute to arrange for a picnic late in July. The president reported on the work of the local Red Cross unit, and urged every effort be put forth in this work. Material and wool was also distributed. At the close a social hour was spent, with Mesdames Nott, Polson and W. Mitchell acting as hostesses. Prizes were won by Mrs. J. Patterson, Mrs. W. Mitchell and Mrs. P. Cruise. The next meeting will be held in September.

THESE WOMEN!

Junior W.A. Installs Formula Room at St. Joseph's

Specially designed by the Sister in charge of the maternity floor, a formula room, replete with all modern and scientific equipment has been installed at St. Joseph's Hospital with funds specifically donated for that purpose by the Junior Auxiliary.

The formula room has been established immediately adjacent to the main maternity floor kitchen. It is equipped with monumental laboratory counters, and specially lined cupboards and drawers for the necessary utensils and instruments.

There is a large electrically operated refrigerator to keep all baby formula at the proper temperature; a high pressure steam sterilizer, sink equipment, desk and dietitian's cabinets.

DIETITIAN IN CHARGE

A dietitian will be in charge of this new section of the maternity department, and special arrangements have been made for the placing of formula charts for lactic acid milk, citric acid milk, percentage composition charts for the proper dieting of babies from time of birth to discharge from the hospital. The formula room provides for the scientific feeding of premature babies; between time of delivery and the time the mother is able to feed him, and also for the nourishment of a child denied the natural source of human milk. Throughout its entire operation everything is effectively sterilized.

This new room rounds out the improvements that have been carried on in the maternity department over a long period. This department is now separate from the rooms occupied by patients and yet close enough to permit the highest efficiency in service.

L-SHAPED UNIT

The medical and hospitalization phase of maternity work is contained in an L-shaped unit, and starts with a special doctor's room, which in turn leads to two 'case rooms', which are separated by a pre-delivery room. Immediately adjacent is the sterilizing room with its extremely high pressure steam and water sterilizers so necessary in the treatment of maternity cases. The temperature in the case rooms is controlled at all times as further safeguard.

Next to the sterilizing unit is the new formula room, then the kitchen, chart office, nursery and inspection and demonstration room. This latter room is provided so that doctors may inspect their patient's baby. No doctor is permitted to enter the nursery, this being another safeguard against infection or contagion. Before mothers are discharged from the hospital they are given a demonstration in the handling of their baby in this special room.

Rounding out the safeguards against infection or contagion of babies are the new rules governing visitors, who are permitted only between the hours of 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon and 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening. Babies can be seen only through a glass partition and then only between 3.30 and 4 p.m. and 7.30 and 8 p.m. This is to ensure against disturbing their rest.

The formula room donated by the Junior Auxiliary completes this unit and forms a valuable acquisition to the hospital.

Pianoforte Pupils Present Recital

Pupils of Miss Griffin were presented in recital at the Victoria Truth Centre on Friday evening, giving a program of pianoforte solos, trios and duets which was notable for the high standard throughout.

Those taking part included Helen Porter, Doreen Dodgson, Thelma Keradimas, Beverly Dodgson, Colin Blyth, Doreen and Bobby Dalziel, Mavis McCahill, Margaret Roberts, Ronald Scoble, Margaret Beale, Michael McCahill and Phyllis and Vivian Fox, Frances MacIvor, Catherine Sneadon and Bruce Blyth.

Miss Griffin was presented by her pupils with a handsome box of stationery. She also was the recipient of a lovely corsage bouquet and several baskets of flowers.

STRAWBERRY VALE

A garden party was held under the auspices of the St. Columba W.A. last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss H. L. Milne, Portage Inlet. The program included a fine display of folk dancing, first aid and group games by the Colquitz Girl Guides. Stalls were supervised by Mrs. A. Hemaley, Miss E. Brown, Mrs. G. Watling, Mrs. G. Campbell, Mrs. G. Gilham and Miss Mona Watling.

The social meeting of St. Mark's W.A. will be held on Tuesday at 2.30 in the Parish Hall.

Must Not Slacken in Work for Church

At the meeting of the Columbia Diocesan Board of the Women's Auxiliary held in the Parish Hall of St. Martin's-in-the-Field on Friday evening, it was stressed that at this time when the whole empire is fighting for the preservation of the Christian faith, it is important that in spite of all other demands, the work of the church should be kept up, and also that having so much to be thankful for in the peace and security of life in Canada, increasing grateful offerings should be given.

The meeting opened with prayer by the Rev. Canon Stocken, who welcomed the members. The members stood in silent tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. W. H. Belson, for many years president of the Diocesan Board and Dominion Vice-President for Western Canada.

Miss Tait gave the Bible reading and Mrs. F. Frew extended a welcome from the branch.

WORK FOR REFUGEES

Encouraging reports were given by the various officers. Mrs. R. C. Keane, junior secretary, reported splendid rallies held at Comox and Duncan, and stated that quilts, mitts and afghans had been made by the juniors for refugee children. Mrs. Keane was appointed a delegate to the Dominion annual meeting to be held in the east this fall.

The report of Mrs. E. J. Harris, Little Helper's secretary, was read by Lady Lake. This spoke of a rally at Duncan and a babies' party at the Chinese Good Hope Mission. A report of the Girl's Camp committee was given by Mrs. J. T. Hughes, and it was announced that a food shelter for the camp would be held at the Memorial Hall on August 5. Mrs. Robertson, convener of the hospital committee, reported the donation of a wheel chair for Rock Bay Hospital by an anonymous donor, who also offered a hospital bed, provided the amount for another hospital bed could be raised, beds being badly needed at Rock Bay.

A special committee reported that the branches had subscribed sufficient funds to place in the Dominion W.A. Book of Remembrance the name of the late Mrs. Colin Cummins, who besides holding several offices in this and other dioceses, was for 14 years diocesan recording secretary.

Two resignations were accepted with great regret, that of Mrs. F. Frew as girl's secretary, and of Miss Dora Mott as Dorcas secretary. The president and others paid glowing tribute to the devoted work Miss Mott had given in this arduous office, and a hearty vote of thanks to her was passed.

Mrs. J. T. Hughes moved a vote of thanks to Canon Stocken and to the branch for their hospitality.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps will meet Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. H. C. Greer, 1394 Esquimalt Road, at 8. All women interested in working for the R.C.A.S.C. are invited to attend.

Girl Guide Notes

All four Guide companies in the East District participated in the proficiency badge tests held recently. Six cook, 11 needlewoman and nine child nurse badges were awarded. These three badges are part of the first class test.

In addition several members of the Ranger company passed the following examinations: Economist, Empire knowledge, finisher, first class cook, housecraft, life saver, public health and swimmer. Two Rangers have applied for their trade badges.

There are now nine first class Guides and Rangers in the district, which is an increase of seven since January.

View Royal Raspberry Tea Netted $191

The garden party and raspberry tea held at the home of Mrs. Duval, View Royal, in aid of the View Royal Red Cross unit, was an outstanding success. The receipts amounted to the large sum of $191. The stalls, which were attractively arranged and well patronized, were in charge of the following: Home cooking, Mesdames Pope and Taylor; aprons and novelties, Mesdames Lewis and Shaw; candy, D. McKean; bingo, Mesdames Fox and Davies. The competitions were in charge of Mrs. C. F. Williams. Another attraction was the string orchestra, which was in attendance during the afternoon. The convener of this function thanked the many friends through whose generosity the Red Cross so greatly benefited.

RED CROSS DONATIONS

The Red Cross acknowledges: Elks' Club, Victoria (for ambulance), $1,750; View Royal unit, proceeds of recent garden party, $191; Brentwood unit, clothing for refugees, $10; Sidney and North Saanich unit, per Mrs. McKean, $25; Gorge unit, $49; employees of Yarrows Limited, $72.

SHE KNEW ALL THE LATEST STEPS

—but nobody asked her to dance

MAE not only knew how to dance—the knew how to dress well, too. But what she did not know—or thought didn't matter—was that anybody who is careless can become a HOT-WEATHER OFFENDER.

All of us must perspire to live—just as we must breathe. Hot, sticky weather increases perspiration—and what is worse, it speeds up decomposition. Left on the body, sweat deposits go stale—decompose.

"B.O." can ruin romance, business and social chances. Check it before it starts by using Lifebuoy regularly. Lifebuoy contains an exclusive deodorizing ingredient not found in other leading toilet soaps. Used in your daily bath, Lifebuoy stops "B.O."—its rich, purifying lather washes away stale sweat deposits—protects you from offending others. It is also kind to the skin—20% milder than many so-called "beauty" and "baby" soaps, by actual test.

LIFEBUOY IN YOUR DAILY BATH Stops "B.O."

SCIENTIFIC FACTS ABOUT "B.O."

The adult skin has 2 to 3 million sweat glands which act as a cooling system, giving off from 1 to 3 pints of perspiration daily—see what we are doing with it. If perspiration stopped, we would die from hyperpyrexia (heat stroke).

Because much of the water in perspiration evaporates, we do not see or feel it. Summer heat, nervous excitement, hunger, clothes or warm rooms quickly decompose this sweat deposit—turn it stale—cause offensive "B.O." (Body Odor).

Birthday Singogram

MONTREAL—Dr. Wilfrid Pelletier, eminent conductor of grand opera, celebrated his birthday Thursday and the occasion received the personal attention of Mrs. Pelletier, who is, of course, Rose Bampton, the distinguished singer. But Mrs. Pelletier was in New York while Dr. Pelletier was in Montreal, so the matter required special treatment. Nothing daunted by distance, Mrs. Pelletier placed the matter in the hands of the telegraph company with the result that the Canadian National Telegraphs in Montreal had instructions to deliver to the conductor a choice "singogram."

Accordingly, from the large force of boys who are ready to take on any task, Maurice Guerin was chosen and dispatched from the main office to find Dr. Pelletier. He was at the auditorium at the Plateau Academy engaged in rehearsal with the Montreal Orchestra. In stride, messenger Guerin who waited for an appropriate moment to make it known to the conductor that he was the bearer of a message to be delivered vocally. When that became known, members of the orchestra decided that the message should be complete and so to the accompaniment of the musicians messenger Guerin raised quite a pleasant alto and sang "Happy Birthday to You."

FIRST CATHAROL TROOP

The First Catharol Scout Troop met Friday. The meeting was opened by Duty Patrol Leader D. Patterson. Inspection was held in the corners, points being awarded for the work done as well as for personal appearance. After an outdoor game the arrangements for camp from July 6 to 20, at Knapp Island were announced. W. R. Bardsley will be in charge.

25 Years Ago

JUNE 24, 1915
LONDON—Heavy engagements took place on the western front yesterday. The French were the objects of vigorous counterattacks by the Germans, who sought to recover positions lost by them this month. Each side reported slight advances, but the relative positions were changed but little.

PETROGRAD—"The Russian army still is unbroken. At no point has the enemy been able to pierce our line. The spirit of our soldiers remains unbroken, and they are confident of final victory."

Among those included in the latest casualty list are Pte. W. E. Dunning, 7th Bn., killed, and Pte. G. Plant, 16th Bn., wounded. Prisoners of war include Pte. H. Chaine, 7th Bn.; Pte. G. L. Garland, 7th Bn.; Pte. W. Harris, 7th Bn.; Pte. R. A. Lever, 7th Bn.; Pte. H. R. Maynard, 7th Bn.; Col. Sgt. W. A. C. Pilkington, 7th Bn., and Pte. J. Young, 7th Bn.

The marriage took place at Christ Church Cathedral yesterday of Hilda, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thorpe Pearson of Sydney, and Sydney Champken, service manager of the Ford Motor Company of Canada Ltd., Saskatoon, Sask.

Show Paintings Of Young Indian

An exhibition of 40 paintings, leather work designs and illustrations by Sis Hu Li, 19-year-old Indian artist from the Inkameep Reserve, near Oliver, B.C., is being shown at the Windermere Hotel, starting today.

The exhibition, shown and sponsored by the Island Arts and Crafts Society, will be open to the public until next Saturday. Sis Hu Li, a recognized artist, was discovered by his school teacher, Anthony Walsh, who encouraged and helped the young man in his study of art. The paintings of the artist are outstanding in their color and symmetry, and deal mostly with animals and Indian lore.

SOOKE

SOOKE—The annual picnic of the Sooke Superior and North Sooke schools was held last Friday at Sooke River flats.

Approximately 250 persons attended and 150 children participated in the sports.

Principal W. G. Orchard was the starter and C. R. Margison judge. Mrs. Orchard, Mrs. W. Cains and Miss F. Horne presented the prizes. The final and feature event was the half-mile run, won by Melbourne Duncan, who received the silver cup.

Year's Deficit $118,000,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Announcing an overall deficit of $118,000,000 for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1940, Finance Minister Ralston delivered his first budget address in the House of Commons this afternoon and forecast a heavy increase in the national income, "a very large proportion" of which would be diverted to war purposes.

He estimated this increase in national income at $700,000,000 for the current fiscal year.

At a moment when "the enemy of mankind stands with naked sword at the threshold of Britain," Col. Ralston called on the Canadian people for "the maximum effort which is physically possible."

The deficit amounted to exactly the same figure as the expenditures for war purposes during the last fiscal year. Total revenues were $562,000,000—an all-time record—and total expenditures $681,000,000.

Partial text of the Finance Minister's budget speech follows:

I rise to my allotted task with a sense of heavy responsibility. This budget is being delivered at the most critical hour in history. The Hun is hammering at the gate. Backed by almost incredible weight of mechanized power, he has operated with cold-blooded ruthlessness.

We know now only too well that we are paying the price of long years of wishful thinking. There is no doubt that all of us in the democratic countries, governments and peoples alike, have been blinded to the stark potentialities of force and evil.

Fortunately, at last, I believe, our eyes are opened and we see clearly, and if we do, it is not too late. For no one and no event can shake my conviction that in the long run truth must triumph over falsehood, good over evil, justice over might.

Country Lives From Day to Day

Obviously, the message which I must bring today cannot be a pleasant one. I come to you to collect part of the price to which I have referred. Nor can I be dogmatic or definitive in the proposals I make. We live from day to day—indeed, from hour to hour—and our plans must be subject to change in the light of new circumstances.

There will, I am sure, be those who will think that I have not gone far enough, and probably those who will contend that I have gone too far. Still others will differ with me on details of specific measures.

All that I can say is that I have spared no pains to ascertain the relevant facts, to weigh the merits of various measures and proposals, and to reach conclusions in the light of the supreme emergency which faces us today.

In the first war budget of last September, my colleague, the Minister of National Revenue (Hon. J. L. Isley), who delivered the budget speech, laid down the broad principle of the government's policy of war finance.

'Pay-as-you-go' Still in Effect

"We believe it is the part of wisdom," he said, "to follow as far as may be practicable a pay-as-you-go policy."

Events which have happened since, and particularly those of the last few weeks, have not detracted from the wisdom of that policy, but rather have reinforced the need for a vigorous effort to apply it in every possible way.

The general policy was elaborated further as consisting of two parts: An initial period of quietness and hesitation, and a second period in which rising business activity and expanding income had acquired momentum.

In the initial period of the war in which business was expected to be hesitant, if not actually depressed, the appropriate financial policy was declared to be one which would facilitate the expansion of national income and the drawing into employment of our full man-power.

In accordance with the declared policies, the government made its first financing in the form of a short-term banking operation which was definitely expansionist in character. This was a loan of $200,000,000, arranged with the banks in November, 1939, on the security of two-year notes at a rate of 2 per cent.

It will be recalled that of this amount $92,000,000 was used to repatriate Canadian securities held in London. This gave the United Kingdom a substantial supply of Canadian dollars which was used to purchase Canadian foodstuffs, raw materials and war supplies.

This borrowing from the chartered banks was facilitated by appropriate monetary policy. Between August and November, the Bank of Canada's assets increased by approximately $107,000,000 as a result of the purchase of securities and the increase in the value of its gold and foreign exchange reserves. This provided cash to meet the enlarged public demand for notes in circulation and to increase the cash reserves of the chartered banks by $33,000,000.

With this increase in cash reserves, the chartered banks were enabled to increase their total Canadian deposits by approximately $306,000,000. In the same period, they increased their current loans by approximately $147,000,000, mainly to finance the large wheat crop, and added to their net holdings of securities by $158,000,000.

First War Loan Great Success

By the middle of January it became apparent business had acquired sufficient momentum to justify going to the public for a loan out of savings. We therefore offered our first war loan in the form of a 34-per-cent, 12-year bond callable by lot during the last five years. Very carefully preparation had been made for the campaign and the success of the loan was even greater than we had expected. Of the total subscriptions of $375,000,000, we allotted $200,000,000 to cash subscribers, and $50,000,000 to subscribers who desired to convert their holdings of one of our issues which was to mature on March 1.

Even this January borrowing was to a considerable extent expansionist in character in that it converted into government expenditure a considerable amount of idle bank savings. I come to a further major step in our borrowing operations, namely, the inauguration of our war savings certificates program on May 27. These certificates are issued in small denominations for the purpose of facilitating regular savings and contributions to Canada's war effort by persons of moderate and small means.

The stagnation in business which he (Mr. Isley) contemplated as probable during the first few months of war was not in fact realized. It is true that for the first few weeks financial and commodity markets were upset by the shock of war and business itself was retarded by uncertainty and the disruption of certain established channels of trade.

But the financial policies outlined in the September budget and the institution of foreign exchange control on September 16 restored confidence to financial markets and prevented the dumping of securities and the export of capital which might otherwise have produced serious disorganization.

The prompt establishment of other controls through various war agencies, such as the War Time Prices and Trade Board, the War Supply Board and the Agricultural Supplies Board, also made its contribution to the restoration of confidence and the rapid adjustment of trade and industry to the new wartime conditions.

The prompt establishment of other controls through various war agencies, such as the War Time Prices and Trade Board, the War Supply Board and the Agricultural Supplies Board, also made its contribution to the restoration of confidence and the rapid adjustment of trade and industry to the new wartime conditions.

Wheat Prices Aided General Business

There were various economic factors which also worked to improve conditions. The large wheat crop of last year, for which the initial price guarantee by the government was realized by the producers immediately upon delivery, gave a very important stimulus to business generally.

Almost equally important was the phenomenal rise during the first four months of war of Canadian exports to the United States. Our neighbor to the south experienced an intense forward-buying boom and in that we shared through greatly increased exports. Initial war orders were important in contributing to the early expansion of the textile, boot and shoe, and iron and steel industries particularly.

At the turn of the year, however, business activity in the United States receded very sharply. But while the rapid increase in Canadian business activity was slowed down somewhat, the cumulative increase in war orders and the recovery in Canadian exports to Britain, which had been abnormally low in October and November, largely offset the influence of the United States recession.

Business activity in Canada flattened out in February and March, but generally did not recede. In recent weeks the tempo of United States business has increased sharply and there are already indications that Canadian exports to that country are responding to a more active market.

On the basis calculated by the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations, our national income for the calendar year 1939 was in the vicinity of $3,800,000,000. Using the same method of computation we consider that our national income for the fiscal year 1940-41 will not likely be less than $4,500,000,000. We must see to it that by far the greater part of that increase is used for war purposes.

I need hardly say that our war effort is not in any sense to be limited by such financial calculation or by what we can comfortably accomplish. We must make the maximum effort of which this country is capable. Financial provision can be made and will be made for whatever it is physically possible for us to produce or to procure in the way of war services, supplies and materials.

If an appropriate financial policy is not followed the ultimate result will inevitably be that the government will be frustrated in its attempt to procure goods for war purposes by the competition of consumers who seek to spend their increased buying power to satisfy civilian wants. In that event, also, the familiar spiral of rising prices, then rising wages and costs, and then prices rising still further would begin to work.

Careful Control To Prevent Chaos

Prices would rise more rapidly than wages and salaries, and, by this indirect, hidden and most inequitable process, the civilian population, and particularly the wage and salary earners and the receivers of fixed incomes, would be forced to curtail their consumption not only of luxuries, but of comforts and necessities as well.

Eventually in such a process, our entire economic life would be disorganized; a hectic period characterized by feverish speculation, waste and extravagance would develop, and a collapse of the inflationary structure would be as inevitable as it was at the close of last year.

The government's financial and economic policies have been so designed as to try to safeguard against that type of situation.

They have been evolved with the aim to avoid unjustified price increases or speculative excesses, to keep our economy functioning as effectively as possible and to secure the necessary diversions of man power, equipment and materials to war purposes in a way which would be the least dangerous to the economy and the most equitable as between different individuals and groups.

Labor Shortages Already Apparent

There is every likelihood in my opinion that the expenditure of $700,000,000, and more, for war purposes plus the very large amounts the United Kingdom is spending in this country will bring us before very long to this point when everyone able and willing to work and not needed for military service will find an opportunity for productive employment.

In the relief estimates which have been tabled there is provision for the rehabilitation of unemployed workers and the technical training of young men and women. Already we can see evidence that shortages have appeared in certain types of skilled labor.

To overcome this obstacle we must have the co-operation of Canadian employers in providing the necessary apprenticeship and other training, and of our labor organizations in facilitating the necessary entrance of young men into their trades. We must not allow bottlenecks to develop and retard our armament program in this supreme emergency.

To the extent that we can increase the national income, we can increase our war power without our coping sacrifice in our standard of living. Some reduction in personal consumption there must necessarily be, and it can easily be made by those of us who are above the minimum standard of living.

To sum up: In the measures which I shall propose we are endeavoring to ensure that at least a very large proportion of the increase in national income shall be diverted to war purposes while, at the same time, leaving sufficient stimulus to bring the country as rapidly as possible to the maximum use of its labor, plant and resources.

In this connection it will be seen that many of our tax proposals will not require immediate payment and that much of the planned-for increase in revenue will not be called for during the present fiscal year.

Yield of Taxes Above Expectations

At the time of the September, 1939, budget, it was estimated that the total revenues for the fiscal year 1939-40 would be $516,000,000, including $21,000,000 to be derived from new and increased taxes. Because business expanded more rapidly than was anticipated, the yield of both our old and new taxes has exceeded our expectations.

It is now estimated that when our books for the year are closed, total revenue will amount to $620,000,000. (This includes, it is true, a bookkeeping item of $20,000,000 of credits to nonactive accounts for which offsetting or contra items appear on the expenditure side of the statement.) The figure which I have given for total revenues represents an increase of nearly $47,000,000 over the previous all-time record revenue which was received during the fiscal year 1937-38.

Dealing particularly with revenue from taxes, let me say that of the September, 1939, tax increases, only the luxury taxes were effective in the past fiscal year. Actual collections under the increased rates of the personal and corporation income taxes would not be made until the present fiscal year. The same is true of the excess profits tax. Nevertheless, tax revenues for the fiscal year 1939-40 are estimated to have been $468,000,000 as compared with $436,000,000 in the previous fiscal year.

In the September, 1939, budget, total expenditures for the year would, it was estimated, aggregate approximately $651,000,000, not including the two items of capitalized defence expenditures and further losses in the marketing of wheat.

Outlay for Year $681,000,000

Our total expenditures for last year are now estimated at $681,000,000. This includes all our defence expenditures and, in addition, a further $27,000,000, incurred in wheat marketing. Once the war had begun, it seemed that conservative accounting could no longer justify the capitalization of defence expenditures as provided for in last year's estimates, and all such items have been charged to war expenditures.

Furthermore, while at the close of the fiscal year there still remained unsold a small amount of wheat of the 1938 crop, it was clear that the losses of the Canadian wheat board in respect of the marketing of that crop would amount to at least $52,000,000. Therefore, an advance of this amount was made to the board and this enabled the board to pay off guaranteed bank advances to that amount in respect of 1938 wheat.

$25,000,000 Reserve For Wheat Dealings

As provision had already been made in the accounts of the year 1938-39 for setting up a reserve of $25,000,000 in respect of possible losses in marketing this wheat, the difference between this sum and the advance of $52,000,000 made to the board, namely, $27,000,000, has as already indicated been included in the 1939-40 expenditures.

When we add to our estimated expenditure of $651,000,000 these two items of $27,000,000 of capitalized expenditures and $27,000,000 more for wheat losses, you will note that if we had spent what we estimated, the total expenditure would have been $705,000,000. It will be seen, therefore, that since our actual aggregate expenditures were only $681,000,000, we have done considerably better than was expected last September.

The figure of $681,000,000 which I have given as representing our aggregate expenditures for the year may be broken

Ready to Exchange Important Posts

Col. the Hon. J. L. Ralston presented his first, and possibly his last, federal budget to the House of Commons at Ottawa this afternoon. He took over the financial portfolio after war began. Following the budget today he will step into the national defence ministry. Col. Ralston has an outstanding military record. He won the D.S.O. with bar and the C.M.G. in the last war and was twice mentioned in dispatches. He rose to lieutenant-colonel overseas and after the war became a full colonel, commanding the 17th Infantry Brigade. At the right he is shown in uniform.

Where Tax Money Goes

Statement Reveals How Costs Varied

OTTAWA (CP)—The various sources in which Canada spent $680,516,000 during the last fiscal year—April 1, 1939-March 31, 1940—were explained to the Commons this afternoon by Finance Minister Ralston in his white paper tabled with the budget speech. Main items of expenditure, compared with the previous year, include:

	1938-39	1939-40

War expenditures—
Government-owned Enterprises—
C.N.R. losses—ex-eastern lines	48,194,000	34,851,000
Eastern lines	6,120,000	5,245,000
National Harbors Board	138,000	94,000
Trans-Canada Airlines	818,000	42,000

down by main categories of expenditure as follows (using round numbers):

Ordinary expenditures	$398,000,000
Capital expenditures	7,000,000
Losses on and non-active advances to government-owned enterprises	42,000,000
War expenditures	118,900,000
Other special expenditures, including unemployment relief and wheat losses	89,000,000
Other charges	26,000,000

In the above item of "other special expenditures," the amount for unemployment relief, relief works and western drought area relief totaled $62,000,000, as compared with $47,000,000 during the preceding year. This includes a net expenditure of $7,500,000 under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act.

Under "government-owned enterprises," the main item of expenditure was the net income deficit of the Canadian National Railway, which amounted to slightly over $40,000,000 as compared with $54,000,000 for the preceding year.

How Deficit Created

Ordinary Costs Down When Canada at War

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal treasury had a large surplus on ordinary account in the last fiscal year, but special expenditures took all of this and created the deficit of $118,421,000, Finance Minister Ralston showed the House today. He submitted the following comparative summary of revenues and expenditures:

	1938-39	1939-39	1939-40
Ordinary expenditures	$414,892,000	$413,032,000	$397,996,000

ALTHOUGH the recent player flare-up in the roster of the Cleveland ball club appears to have been settled, many eastern critics are calling on Judge Kene-saw Landis to look into the situation. They claim its dangerous when ball players put their heads together in secrecy, which is what an even-dozen Indians did when they went to Alva Bradley seeking the scalp of Manager Oscar Vitt. If they could get their heads together in such a vicious move, they easily might agree on some other conspiracy.

They point out that eight other players sat down in Chicago in the fall of 1919 and agreed to throw a world series.

It having been made plain that the Cleveland club is loosely run, Commissioner Landis should ascertain who first suggested the drive against Vitt, and why. The public is entitled to the facts and, among other things, should be told why the other 13 members of the club had no part in the procedure.

Vitt, the first man responsible for the Indians, and to whom the malcontents owed allegiance, knew nothing of the charges against him until several hours after they were made.

Three competent baseball writers traveled with the club on its 12-day eastern trip. None of them knew of the complaint until several hours after it was made, although the 12 disgruntled athletes marched straight from the train to President Bradley's office.

The squawking not only went over the head of their manager, but also that of the club's general manager, Cyril C. Slapnicka.

Cy Slapnicka and Vitt have been squabbling for two years, which adds to the ugliness of conditions.

The row between the men running the club has resulted in the development of factions.

Summing up the accusations against Vitt, the most serious one seems to be that he upset the poor dears in his wild desire to win.

Since when has there been anything wrong with that?

As Vitt says: "What do those fellows want? A manager who doesn't care whether they win or lose?"

"There is more behind this than appears on the surface. There were men on the committee for whom I have done as much as any one possibly could."

Vitt refers to Rolly Hensley and Kenny Keltner, who looked particularly bad having a part in the rebellion.

Vitt strung along with Hensley... helped to straighten him out when a number of other managers had failed over a long period.

It was suspected Keltner would be ridden rough shod this season for his ill-advised application for unemployment compensation last winter. It was Vitt who stifled the razzing by staunchly defending the third baseman, and pointing to the poor taste of those creating it.

But more important than that and Vitt's capabilities is the fact that 12 ball players kept the "Fire Vitt" putsch carefully concealed until it was time to strike.

There is no place for conniving in baseball.

There are five "poles" in the Arctic-North Pole, pole of the greatest cold; magnetic pole, ice pole and wind pole.

Champs Decided

Jack Wilkinson retained his men's singles championship of the Victoria C.P.R. Tennis Club yesterday with a straight set victory over Charlie Haggard, 6-2, 6-2.

Marjorie Rice-Jones, women's singles titleholder, also made it two in a row, defeating her sister Norah in straight sets, 6-3, 8-6. In the semifinals Norah Rice-Jones captured a thrilling match from Florence Cummins in three sets, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Eric Cox and Reg Wood won the men's doubles from J. Wilkinson and Walter Stipe, 6-4, 6-4. Women's doubles final saw the defending champions beaten when Helen Peden and Helen Ballies won from M. Rice-Jones and Kay Harris, 0-6, 6-3, 6-1.

In mixed doubles matches Florence Cummins and J. McPherson defeated Mary Wells and W. Stipe, 7-5, 4-6, 6-4 and N. Rice-Jones and W. Browne-Cave defeated M. Rice-Jones and Reg Wood, 4-6, 10-8, 8-6.

Sparks, Wenman
In Batting Form

Cricket play Saturday was highlighted by the heavy hitting of Sparks to score 102 not out for Victoria in a friendly match against the Albions at Beacon Hill Park. Victoria won the match 244 for five wickets to 91 for the Albions.

In the day's only league engagement University School Incogs triumphed over Cowichan 168 to 125 on the upland pitch.

Another friendly match played at Work Point saw Five C's win over the Garrison 73 to 56.

Feature of the Incogs-Cowichan match was the 74 put on by Reg Wenman before retiring. E. S. Fox topped the Cowichan batters with 43.

Victory for the Incogs placed them in a tie with Albions for first place in the league standings. Each club has two wins and one loss.

Rush to Colors Gains Impetus

Definite improvement in B.C. enlistments was reported today by recruiting officers.

Over the week-end 500 men joined the colors at the different depots throughout the province.

The Canadian Scottish Recruiting office on Government Street attested 35 men Saturday and 15 yesterday, bringing to more than 150 the number that have joined the unit through the downtown office.

Vancouver depot reported it is enlisting about 50 men a day. Major A. C. Sutton, in charge for West Kootenay, wired headquarters here:

"We have hardly touched the possibilities so far, merely taking the very eager men."

As recruiting depots were faced with a call for another 2,500 men in addition to the 3,000 objective already listed, Col. H. E. Goodman, district recruiting officer, said the improvement was decidedly encouraging.

"I think men are beginning to realize what a serious job Canada faces. Everyone is going to be needed to defend our country," he said.

Theft of five purses from an Esquimalt dance hall was reported to Esquimalt police Saturday night.

Thieves entered clubrooms of the Veterans of France over the week-end and stole the contents of a pin-ball machine, a city police report said.

A. Dixon, 1028 Summit Ave. reported the theft of a gold wrist watch, a gold ring and gold cuff links from his home Saturday night, according to a city police report.

Fines of $25 and $20 were imposed on Vera Levey and R. W. Tervo, respectively, when each was convicted in the City Police Court this morning on a charge of dangerous driving.

A luncheon meeting of the Electrical Dealers' branch of the Retail Merchants' Association will be held tomorrow afternoon at 12:10 in Terry's private dining room.

Theft of $69 from a boarding house operated by Joe Sam, 738 Pembroke Street, was reported to city police Saturday afternoon. Two roomers, George Sue and Harry Lee, reported the loss.

Cars driven by Ronald D. R. Hicks, 1070 Richmond Road, and Charles W. Cochrane, Balmoral Hotel, were considerably damaged in an accident last night at Fairfield Road and Cook Street, according to a city police report.

A large audience in front of the Burns Memorial at Beacon Hill Park yesterday gave enthusiastic applause to a program of Scottish and patriotic selections played by the First Battalion, Canadian Scottish Pipe Band, under the direction of Pipe-Major J. R. Marrs.

Yesterday morning a couple of officers from city police headquarters attended a call to Blanshard Street where it was reported two Canadian soldiers were seated on the curb minus their pants. On arrival it was discovered the military police had been called and the city bluecoats left.

David Walter Lawrence, convicted on two charges of petty theft from fare boxes of the Blue Line, was sentenced to 10 days imprisonment by Magistrate H. C. Hall in the City Police Court.

Sentence was dated from time of arrest which was more than a week ago. The magistrate said he was showing leniency because of the accused's previous good record and the fact he had enlisted for active service.

J. H. Scruton, vice-president and director of Heinz Company of Canada Ltd., is at the Empress Hotel in the course of a tour of inspection of western branches. He is accompanied by D. E. Milne, manager of the B.C. branch, Vancouver. While here they conferred with Vancouver Island representatives, R. Bramley and W. L. King, and interviewed local merchants.

Mr. Scruton was so impressed with Victoria that he prolonged his stay and on Sunday played golf at the Uplands.

HOLDS EXHIBITION

Every day until Friday an exhibition of work of the Victoria School of Art will be open to the public every afternoon.

Drawing, design and ceramics are featured by senior students. There is a special section for the junior work of the Saturday morning class for High School students in life drawing and outdoor work.

The drawing section consists of portraiture and figure drawing, composition and illustration. In design there are plant form studies and textile designs for all commercial purposes.

The ceramics show figure modelling, animal studies, masks, lamps and bowls. The pottery school may be visited, where the casting, glazing and firing is done. It is equipped with electrical and kick wheels for making the "pots," and with gas kilns for firing the finished work.

The School of Art is under the auspices of the Department of Education, with Mrs. Ina D. D. Thihoff, directing the work.

COURT VACATION

Supreme Court chambers day during the first week of long vacation will be on Saturday, July 6, according to an announcement made at the Court House today.

During the remainder of vacation, covering July and August, chambers days for both Supreme and County Court will be Thursday at 10:30. Office hours will be from 10 to 2 in the registry.

As the staff proceeded with arrangements for the annual vacation, new regulations were observed in respect to money scheduled for payment to Italy.

"The provisions which apply to assets not being distributed or paid during the war to any beneficiary or creditor, who is a national of the German Reich, will also now apply to subjects of the Kingdom of Italy," a notice in the registry stated.

$1 Passport For One Year

OTTAWA (CP)—The government announces a decision to issue a special $1 12-month passport for Canadians visiting United States and adds the American requirements of a passport and visa for visiting aliens would not apply to border commuters who hold border identification cards issued by United States immigration authorities.

Canadians passing from one part of Canadian territory to another in direct transit through the United States by means of a transportation line running through the territory or waters of both countries also will be exempt from the recent United States ruling all visiting aliens must have a passport and visa.

The rule is effective July 1, but to avoid disruption in essential services, arrangements have been made to postpone the visa regulations until July 15 for operating personnel of railway trains, aircraft, vessels and buses.

Application forms for the special passport may be obtained from the passport office of the Department of External Affairs at Ottawa, from railway or steamship ticket offices or from the offices of the Canadian Immigration service at Halifax, Saint John, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver or Victoria.

Ordinarily a Canadian passport costs $5 and is good for five years; renewal for a similar term at a cost of $2. This is good for travel generally and continues to be available for persons who desire to travel to other countries as well as to the United States.

There is no fee for temporary visitors' visa issued to Canadian nationals for a visa for a British subject who does not have Canadian domicile as defined by the Canadian immigration act, is $2 in American funds.

No Sunday Movie In War Campaign

Special gala performances in Canadian theatres from coast to coast under auspices of the motion picture industry's "win the war campaign" will be held on Monday, July 15, the industry campaign committee in Toronto announced today.

The performances, designed to push the sale of war savings stamps and certificates, will be held at the conclusion of the regular evening shows, entire expenses to be borne by the industry.

There will be no charge for admission, but patrons will be asked to purchase as many war savings stamps as possible. A minimum of two 25-cent stamps will entitle the purchaser to receive a complimentary ticket to the special performance. Stamps remain the property of the patrons.

When first planned, it was suggested that the special performance be held on Sunday, but the campaign committee decided to stage the show on a week-day in order not to offend any section of any Canadian community.

PEDESTRIAN HURT

Mrs. M. E. Young, 106 South Turner Street, suffered a broken rib, a possible hip fracture and a bruised side in an accident Saturday night on Niagara Street, according to a city police report.

The report said Mrs. Young was knocked down by a car driven by Mrs. M. L. Rowland, 434 Simcoe Street, proceeding along Niagara between Government and South Turner Streets. Mrs. Young was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in the police ambulance and was attended by Dr. J. H. Moore.

ROTARY DRIVE

The drive sponsored by the Rotary Club in the sale of war savings stamps is meeting with ready response.

Operating at the corner of Yates and Douglas Streets, Rotary Club members sold $600 in war savings stamps between 2 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

"What we want to emphasize," said a prominent Rotarian today, "is that every dollar goes to the government to help finance Canada's war effort and that all help at headquarters is voluntary."

day at 10:30. Office hours will be from 10 to 2 in the registry.

As the staff proceeded with arrangements for the annual vacation, new regulations were observed in respect to money scheduled for payment to Italy.

"The provisions which apply to assets not being distributed or paid during the war to any beneficiary or creditor, who is a national of the German Reich, will also now apply to subjects of the Kingdom of Italy," a notice in the registry stated.

Suggested U.S. Take Over French Merchant Fleet

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House has referred to the State Department "several hundred telegrams and letters" suggesting the United States take over the French merchant marine, or some possessions, as payment on France's debt of the first Great War.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said today the communications had been received since the collapse of France.

He said he had no information on reports that a libel might be filed against the French liner Normandie for dockage charges in New York harbor.

Retiring Navy Secretary Edison said today at a press conference that the navy had information—with "no official confirmation"—that some units of the French fleet had been absorbed into the British navy.

NEW PROBLEMS Mr. Roosevelt returned today from a week-end visit at Hyde Park, N.Y., to consider problems of national defence and other factors affected by Adolf Hitler's peace terms to France.

Hitler's terms, as released through the British Ministry of Information, were shown to Mr. Roosevelt last night at Hyde Park, N.Y., where he had spent the week-end at his family home.

Reporters submitted them to him through Secretary William D. Hassett, who brought back this word: "He read every line, but there is no comment."

Of paramount concern to the United States was what might be done with French possessions in the western hemisphere. On that point the London dispatches offered no enlightenment.

Awaiting the President at the White House were several bills, just approved by Congress, comprising an integral part of the defence program.

Hitler Cruel in Boyhood

A small mustache may have had something to do with the history of the modern world. Adolf Hitler had the mustache, and it made many persons think of him as a clown, something like Charlie Chaplin in the movies.

That idea was in the minds of people who might have stopped him before it was too late. When they learned better, he had gathered power, and the world was heading toward widespread war.

Hitler's life is an amazing story, and I am going to take it up step by step, today and in days to come. You will see how anger and blinding words helped him to gain his power.

Hitler was born at Braunau, in northern Austria, on April 20, 1889. His 52-year-old father had met with a little success in life, but not much.

The father had borne the name of Alois Schickelgruber until the age of 40. Then he had changed the family name to Hitler.

When the boy was old enough he was sent to a grade school. One of his teachers later reported finding him "stubborn and quarrelsome." He would not give time to certain subjects, but he seems to have made progress in history. He declared that he "led the class" in this subject.

Many pupils do not like history textbooks, which are "filled with wars and battles." This young Austrian was different from those pupils. He took a keen interest in war.

One day he found in his home a two-volume history of the Franco-Prussian war. He read it from start to finish, and it made him suppose there was "glory" to be found in war.

German was spoken in his household, and he was pleased by the smashing blows the German-speaking Prussians had dealt to France 30 years before. The reading of the two-volume history did much to form the pattern of his life. In later years, when the Germans lost a war after invading France, he grew bitter in the extreme.

The elder Hitler had held a place in customs-office work, and wanted his son to follow the same career. The son, however, had another idea. He wanted to become an artist.

Horoscope Tuesday, June 25. Benefic aspects dominate today. It is an auspicious date for leaders of their fellow men. Well-laid plans should be successful. Women are under a favorable direction of the stars today and should be determined in pushing their plans. It is an auspicious date for obtaining contributions for philanthropic organizations. It is a happy wedding day that presages prosperity and long partnership. Honors are indicated for women in government emergency work.

Before autumn, reorganization and concentration should be completed in all business. Efficiency and economy should be the two watchwords that guide all.

A plot to assassinate a leading British Royal personage or a statesman is forecast. Definite improvement in the Allies' hopes may not be evident before autumn. Mars and Neptune near the ascendant at Paris will increase subversive influences in France. Great feats of heroism are prophesied for French and British aviators.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of good luck. Love affairs as well as those of business should prosper among the young and not-so-young.

Children born on this day will be kindly, generous and hospitable. They may be lacking in self-confidence, even though they are exceptionally intelligent and talented.

DUNCAN — The financial report presented at the meeting of the directors of the King's Daughters' Hospital showed revenue for the month at $6,922.95, against expenditure of $6,681. Cash receipts $6,405.42; 182 patients were admitted, giving a total of 2,075 days' treatment, a daily average of 66.8. The per capita cost was $322.

Miss Irvine, supervisor of the women's ward, who resigned June 10, intends to take up maternity work at Grace Hospital, Vancouver. Miss L. Quayle was appointed in her place. Miss K. Duncan is leaving on June 30 and Miss Shute has been taken on the staff. Miss Dwyer will go to St. Joseph's Hospital for a three months' course in surgery. Insulin, lifesaver in diabetes, is being used in smaller doses to help undernourished, non-diabetic children to gain weight.

ANSWER: Eight. The titmice have two each, and the mongoose four.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Is it possible for a man to make a good husband when it is apparent he is not fond of children? He pays no attention to youngsters, as most people do, and seems as afraid of a baby as if it were a wild animal. Does that show that he has no tenderness in his heart and that he would make an unsympathetic husband? I am engaged to marry him and we do not intend to have any children.

ANSWER: A man's attitude toward children has nothing to do with the kind of husband he will make, unless his wife is one of the women who can't be happy without a baby in her arms and he is the type of man who regrets all babies as brats.

There are not many men like that, however, and it is noticeable that when they do marry and the stork accidentally drops a little bundle from heaven on their doorsteps, they change completely and become almost fanatical fathers. You see it is strange, but true, that we all find something peculiarly lovable in our own children that no other person's children possess.

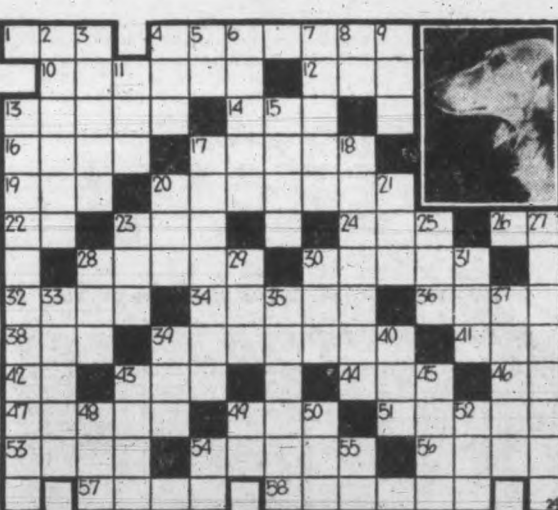

Certainly it is no indication that a man hasn't a good heart and an affectionate nature because he doesn't gush over the occupant of every perambulator, and steers clear of sticky little youngsters who want to plaster the last dab of their all-day suckers on his immaculate trousers.

Many men are shy of children. They don't know what to say to them, nor how to treat them, and so they avoid them as much as possible.

Other men like peace and quiet and the noise of children gets upon their nerves. They cherish their belongings and cannot bear to have little vandals tear their fine books to pieces and write their names on their old mahogany.

DOROTHY DIX.

Pleads for United Front

"We have a tremendous task before us—to protect the Empire and to keep forever before us the banner of Christianity," Rev. Alan Gardiner, army chaplain, said to approximately 500 troops and 200 civilians at a drum head church parade at Work Point Barracks yesterday.

The 500 troops comprised representatives of every unit in Military District No. 11. The parade was held under command of Brigadier C. V. Stockwell, D.S.O., commanding officer of the district.

The troops, in full uniform, lined the square at the barracks in the centre of which was the speakers' stand, which in turn faced Brigadier Stockwell and staff officers. Behind the stand was the Arion Club and band of 5th (B.C.) Coast Brigade, R.C.A., which led in the singing of hymns, "O God Our Help in Ages Past," "Fight the Good Fight," and "A Good Soldier of Jesus Christ."

Mr. Gardiner said, "There should not be the slightest vestige of defeat in our minds. We must keep our eye upon the goal of victory."

"We must increase our fighting forces," he continued. "We must make more munitions. Civilians must work hand in hand with soldiers on a united front."

"We must make real our faith in God. God cannot work alone. God must work with us."

"Let it be said," he remarked, "That every Canadian soldier has in his hand a gun and in his heart a prayer."

Mr. Gardiner urged the troops to think clearly, to spend wisely, to live temperately and to pray daily.

Prayer was offered for guidance in the solemn task which confronted the Empire. Rev. George Turpin, army chaplain, assisted in the service.

Radio Firm in New Premises

After three years of steady business progress, the Radio Appliance Company has moved from its former Blanshard Street quarters to larger and more central premises at 783 Fort Street.

This popular firm handles nationally known radios, electric refrigerators and washers, and specializes in all forms of radio and electrical service.

The company was formed in 1937 by Frank W. Gooch and Cecil W. Hulke, and operated as a radio service shop. Soon the business was extended to include a complete radio and electric appliance sales and service department in which electric washers and refrigerators were prominent factors. Since the inception of the business the electric contracting department has steadily increased in importance.

Solarium Will Receive $1,150

Queen Alexandra Solarium will benefit to the extent of some $1,150 as a result of the hole-in-one competition held at Macdonald Park. This was the announcement made by officials today, following the final day's firing Saturday.

Art Minnis, who, at one time crashed the headlines regularly for his batting feats in amateur baseball, displayed his skill with a golf club Saturday night to register a hole-in-one and win the refrigerator, main award of the competition. All those who qualified during the six days took part in the finals.

With a shot three inches from the cup, Ross (Bud) Hocking finished in second place to take the garden greenhouse. An attempt five inches away won a

Present Prizes At Brentwood

Parents and friends of students attending Brentwood College Saturday afternoon attended the annual presentation of prizes and heard addresses by A. C. Privett, headmaster, and W. F. Clarke, Salt Lake City, guest speaker.

The presentations were made by Mrs. R. P. Butchart, who was presented with a bouquet of roses by Master Privett at the close of the ceremony.

The scholastic year was reviewed by Mr. Privett, who dealt with various staff changes necessitated during the year by members being called for active service and illness. He paid tribute to the Old Boys' Association for its active interest in affairs of the college and its assistance in reducing the debt on the organ.

A message of faith in these days of war in which he expressed confidence for the ultimate destruction of totalitarianism was given by Mr. Clarke, a former Canadian, now resident in United States. The task of preserving the ideals of democracy and freedom were entrusted to such young men as came from Brentwood College, he said.

Following were the prizes presented:

Athens Ready for U.S. Diving Meet

SANTA BARBARA, Calif.—George Athens of Vancouver, Canadian high diving champion, hopes any call to military service will hold off so he can compete in the United States A.A.U. swimming and diving championships here early next month.

Athens confided he has been expecting to be called up any time. He has long wanted to compete in the meet here, and stands a fair chance of winning.

Fred Cady, Olympic coach and meet director, said the event appeared to be a toss-up between the American titleholder, Earl Clark of Ohio State University, Athens and Sammy Lee, Los Angeles Korean lad.

Clark, Sper and Athens have been practicing in Santa Barbara.
